TOKYO SITUATION GRADUALLY GROWING NORMAL AFTER COUP

REBEL SOLDIERS WHO ASSASSINATED OFFICIALS EVACUATING STRONGHOLDS

TOKYO, Feb. 28.—(Friday)—After two days of the gravest crisis in a generation, Tokyo slept easier in the early hours today, confident that sunrise would find the rebel soldiers who assassinated four government dignitaries Wednesday back in their barracks.

They capitulated last night to a government request that they quit police headquarters where they had barricaded themselves in defiance of loyal troops.

The threat of bloodshed in the capital's streets was averted.

Ranking military authorities said they were confident that danger was past since, under an arrangement between the rebels and the war office, the former promised to return to their barracks and retain their arms, thereby escaping the dishonor of being disarmed.

The insurgents began before midnight the evacuation of the buildings they occupied.

That quarter of the city was shut off from all outside observers, behind soldiers armed with rifles and fixed bayonets.

The rebels were stated to be leaving their captured stronghold to return to their own barracks.

The capitulation was said by the official source to have followed upon the mediation of high military authorities on behalf of the national government. These authorities prevailed upon the insurgents to accept peace in order to avert bloodshed.

The attention of the whole nation was riveted on those efforts of mediation going on in the secluded heart of the bustling, rumor-ridden city.

The imperial palace was silent behind military barricades of soldiers and loose rolls of barbed wire.

Only an occasional automobile bearing a statesman or a high army officer was admitted into the palace grounds.

Little Appearance of Crises

With the mantle of snow which lies over the country clinging to the hoary stone walls rising from the broad moats and topped with ancient, fantastically gnarled pines, the palace enclosure looked like a Japanese print of a medieval scene, far removed from the 20th century political and military crisis.

Previous to their capitulation, the rebels, self-styled "direct action" party members, had withdrawn from some of their formerly held position before the threat of the loyal troops of Lieut. Gen. Hokei Kashi, commander of the Tokyo garrison and the man entrusted with the enforcement of martial law in the city of Tokyo.

Prince Chichibu, the eldest of the emperor's three brothers, was authoritatively credited with being one of the chief reasons that the rebels gave in, since the

LAW OF FEUDALISM AND CIVIL-MILITARY ANTAGONISM BACK OF REVOLT

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—(P)—The ancient law of feudalism, together with the long-smouldering antagonism between the military and civilian forces in Japan, were seen today by Americans long resident in the Far East as the basic cause of the latest Tokyo political upheaval.

Every Japanese youth, from the time he enters the public school, wears an army-like cap and a uniform constructed along foreign lines. The Kimono may be worn in the home, but it has no place in the curriculum established by the Japanese educational authorities. Boys drill from the time they are able to walk, and even the smallest girls wear a uniform dress.

While the young of Japan are imbued with the militaristic spirit and devotion to country and emperor, with the ending of school days all youthful citizens, naturally, enter the army or navy. Many continue with the profession of arms, but numerous others go into business and industry, and some of these latter take up politics.

ADMINISTRATION'S NEW FARM BILL IS SENT TO PRESIDENT

SENATE COMPLETED ACTION ON MEASURE WITH ADOPTION CONFERENCE REPORT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—(P)—Congress sped the administration's new farm program to the white house today where President Roosevelt already was studying tax plans for financing the $500,000,000 bill.

Final congressional action was senate adoption of the conference report accepted earlier by the house.

At the White House, the President planned to confer tonight with Vice President Garner, Secretary Morgenthau, Speaker Byrnes and senate and house demagogues on the important question of revenue. Whether a tax bill might go beyond the farm program to embrace the bonus was unknown on Capitol Hill.

The house adopted the conference agreement on the farm bill by a voice vote after a few technical points were discussed.

The new deal measure to replace AAA authorizes payments of up to $500,000,000 a year until Dec. 31, 1937, to farmers practicing conservation measures. After that date or sooner if the states are ready, grants are to be made through voluntary state programs based on soil conservation and on stabilization of agricultural supplies and maintenance of farmers' purchasing powers.

GOVERNOR HOFFMAN APPEARS DOUBT ALL HAUPTMANN TRIAL

TAXI DRIVER'S IDENTIFICATION AND KIDNAP LADDER NOW ATTACKED

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 27.—(P)—Governor Hoffman today questioned the identification of Joseph Perrone, taxi driver, of Bruno Richard Hauptmann as the man who hired a car to deliver a note to Dr. John F. Condon prior to the payment of ransom for Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr.

Perrone delivered the note to Condon the night of March 12, 1932. A man in Gun Hill road, the Bronx, gave it to him. It contained instruction to Condon how to make contact with the kidnaper.

At Hauptmann's trial Perrone said the man who gave him the note was Hauptmann.

The statement cited by the governor was signed by Detective Claude Paterson and Sergeant A. Zapolsky, of the state police.

"x x x Perrone, it said, 'states that a few days after he attended the Bronx county grand jury he had taken a passenger to City Island and there had observed Dr. Condon talking to a man whom he thought was the man who gave him the note.'

The governor made his announcement almost at the moment Attorney General David T. Wilentz, Hauptmann's chief prosecutor, was saying at his Perth Amboy home he would make "no move" at all to combat the governor's renewed attacks on the evidence against Hauptmann.

The governor flatly questioned

DISEASE EPIDEMICS SWEEPING SCHOOLS THROUGHOUT STATE

COLDS, MUMPS, SCARLET FEVER, MEASLES AND INFLUENZA SPREAD RAPIDLY

DALLAS, Feb. 26.—(P)—Thousands of Texas school children were under the watchful eyes of physicians today as one of the worst epidemics of communicable diseases in recent years spread over the state.

New cases of colds, mumps, scarlet fever, measles, influenza and pneumonia increased rapidly and the death toll was reported high in some places. Many schools were closed as pupils and teachers were stricken.

Nine deaths from spinal meningitis were reported in the Texarkana area before physicians expressed belief danger of a further spread of the disease was curbed. Schools, churches, theaters and other public places have been closed in that section several days.

Abilene reported seven deaths from pneumonia and influenza and more than 1,000 pupils were absent from the school there. Many of them were ill and others remained at home as a precaution.

A majority of schools in Jefferson county were closed and 24,000 pupils were warned to stay in the sunshine as much as possible while buildings were fumigated. The Port Arthur school closed after the percentage of illness increased from 5 to 18 per cent of the enrollment of 10,000 yesterday. Many Port Arthur teachers were stricken and substitute teachers were not available.

More than 400 pupils and eight teachers were quarantined at Saline and the school was ordered closed indefinitely.

Thousands of absences were reported.

Jap Situation At a Glance

By The Associated Press

TOKYO—Capitulation of the rebellious young army officers who Wednesday assassinated four high officials was communicated to the Domei News Agency; surviving ministers and supreme war councilors sought a new government to succeed that of the slain Katsuko Okada; establishment of an ultra-patriotic nationalist government seemed imminent; union military law was controlled by loyal troops; Tokyo was quiet; additional soldiers and sailors maintained order; death of a fifth statesman, Kantaro Suzuki, was believed only a matter of time.

LONDON—European reaction to the uprising lay in the question: Will war eventuate? Some political sources here believed that dictatorship determined to master all Asia; France was concerned over signature to a mutual assistance pact with Russia in view of friction between Japan and Japan over outer Mongolia-Manchoukuo border incidents.

MOSCOW—A government newspaper predicted the attempted coup would mean a further shift toward military rule.

SHANGHAI—Chinese officials believed if the younger militaryists gained control in Japan, they could not remain in power long.

ROOSEVELT'S TAX PROGRAM IS STILL SECRET ON EVE OF WHITE HOUSE PARLEY THURSDAY EVE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—(P)—While leaders of congress prepared for a tax parley at the white house tonight, the nature of suggestions possibly to come from President Roosevelt remained a secret.

Into all speculation, however, there entered the chief executive's warning that new taxes would be required for appropriations which are not covered in the budget estimates.

This raised the question of whether a forthcoming tax measure would include provision for levies to cover at least a portion of the more than $2,000,000,000 which must be paid out for the soldiers' bonus, ordered by congress over the president's veto.

The president reiterated some tax views in his veto yesterday of the bill to provide $50,000,000 for seed loans. He objected that the measure had been approved by congress "without making provision for any revenue to cover such loans."

While preparations went ahead for the conference, suggested last week by the president, Rep. Taber (R-NY) declared there was an "absolute necessity" for raising taxes, and that "never in all history has there been a situation where the president has so failed to meet his responsibilities."

Many of the leaders, however, continued to express the view that a suggested tax program would be limited to financing the new $500,000,000 conservation program, and replacing revenues lost with the outlaying of the AAA proceeding tax.

FREEZING WEATHER BRINGING RELIEF TO FLOODED AREAS

SUB-ZERO COLD AGAIN INVADES NORTHWESTERN PART UNITED STATES

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—(P)—Sub-zero returned to the North Central states today and a new cold wave was forecast bringing heavy precipitation and high winds.

Residents of states threatened by floods which have caused several drownings and much property damage hoped the return of freezing weather might bring relief from ice jams and rising flood waters.

Another flood death, Ohio's first of the season, was reported from Newton Falls where Donald Musser, 12, was drowned in the Mahoning river. A Michigan woman died of a heart attack while bucking a blizzard at Gladstone.

Heavy snowfalls paralyzed parts of northern Michigan, Southern Minnesota and Eastern North Dakota. The mercury stood at 18 degrees above in Minneapolis at midnight with the forecast for zero. Bismark, N. D., reported -6 and Dickinson, N. D., -8. Chicago had 26.

Four Missing After Snowslide Believed Dead

WALLACE, Idaho, Feb. 27.—(P)—Four missing persons were believed dead today, buried under tons of snow that roared down Coeur d'Alene mountain and swept a railroad passenger coach to the bottom of a debris-littered canyon.

The avalanche slid down the mountain side dusk yesterday and ripped the coach from the rear of a two-car branch line train.

The tragedy occurred about 200 miles east of Snoqualmie Pass in the Cascades where three persons were killed in a snowslide Sunday.

A rescue crew of 75 found two injured passengers in the wreckage of the splintered car, but the lookout summit station reported four persons were missing. The summit operator said:

"Unlikely they will be found alive."

The missing were: Thomas Byall, conductor, and F. A. McLean, brakeman, both of Missoula, and an unidentified man and woman, both passengers.

ELECTRICAL POWER CUT OFF IN SECTOR ABOUT EL PASO

QUICK STRIKE IN EFFECT; LEADER CLAIMS COMPANY FAILED KEEP PLEDGE

EL PASO, Feb. 27.—(P)—Electric service was partly restored to El Paso at 10 a. m. today after an early morning strike in the El Paso Electric Co., plant which plunged the city and surrounding territory into darkness without warning.

An auxiliary steam plant that had been out of service for years was hastily put in order and pressed into service to supply power to hospitals and the downtown business district with electricity, but the residential and manufacturing sections still were without service.

Officials of the company said difficulty in starting the Rio Grande plant across the state line in New Mexico was due to the crippling of equipment there by the strikers.

N. C. Clay, president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical workers, denied any of the equipment had been tampered with by union men.

"If any damage was done," he said, "it was done by non-union and unskilled help brought in to break the strike."

The lights and power went off at 3:30 a. m. without warning, leaving hospitals, homes, hotels, factories and streets in darkness.

Radio stations, including police broadcasting system went off the air and the street railway system was tied up. An immediate appeal to the governors of New Mexico and Texas was sent out and a request was filed with the

Three Men Are Convicted Mail Fraud In Dallas

DALLAS, Feb. 27.—(P)—James A. Dorsey, Victor Pick and Zell G. Roe were convicted by a federal court jury today of mail fraud and conspiracy and acquitted on a charge of violating the federal securities act.

Four other defendants in the government's case against employees and officials of the bankrupt securities service corporation, were declared innocent.

The jury was charged at 4:30 p. m. yesterday by Federal Judge William H. Atwell. Its verdict was delivered at 10 a. m. today after a night of deliberation.

Dorsey was president of the defunct company and Pick was its statistician and financial advisor.

CONGRESS GROUP TALKS WITH DERN IN HAGOOD ACTION

FAIL TO GAIN ANY ASSURANCE THAT ORDER WOULD BE RESCINDED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—(P)—Senator Byrnes (D-SC) accompanied by two representatives, asked Secretary Dern today to set aside or modify the disciplinary action taken by the army against Major General Johnson Hagood.

Byrnes, chairman of the subcommittee of the house military committee and Rep. Blanton (D-Texas) went to the war department after General Main Craig, chief of staff, had assailed Hagood for "wrecking" remarks in an extraordinary public explanation of the order removing Hagood from command of the Eighth Corps area.

Republicans coincidentally demanded a senatorial inquiry in behalf of "free speech."

The three from Capitol Hill spent nearly two hours with Dern and Craig.

They told the army leaders they believed that the removal order was too severe.

The war department was urged to restore Hagood's command or to alter in some way the punishment given for his criticism of works progress spending activities before recent hearings in a house appropriations subcommittee.

On leaving the war department, the three congressional visitors left it be known that they had failed to obtain any assurances that further action would be taken in Hagood's case.

Both Dern and Craig refused to discuss their conversation in any way.

No one would predict the upshot of the row. Hagood's champions were striving to vindicate him.

LEON TROTSKY DECLARES REIGN OF TERROR IN SOVIET AGAINST ALL WHO DARE OFFER CRITICISM

By LEON TROTSKY
Former Commissar of War in the U.S.S.R.—Now Living in Exile in Norway.
(A Statement to The Associated Press)

HONEFOSS, Norway, Feb. 27.—During recent months and weeks I have received extremely important news, from authentic sources, relative to the terrible regime against political prisoners whose fidelity towards the Soviet union is beyond doubt and whose only "crime" is that of criticizing the ruling bureaucracy.

Friends have requested me by cable to let them know the truth of this matter.

A short time ago, for example, Doctor Anton Ciliga, former leader of the Yugoslavian communist party, arrived from the Soviet Union where he spent more than five years in prison and exile as punishment for his critical attitude towards the leadership of the communists.

In order to force his expulsion from the country, Ciliga began a hunger strike. He was then fed forcibly, and prevented from committing suicide. Thousands of expelled members of the ruling party are in similar circumstances, because they protested against the conditions of growing inequality, introduction of army-officer-titles, dissipation and autocracy.

"Grozov" and Kamenev, close collaborators of Lenin, are now imprisoned for a terroristic crime with which they had nothing whatsoever to do.

REBELLIOUS YOUNG ARMY OFFICERS ARE QUITTING POSITIONS

SURVIVING MEMBERS CABINET STRIVING FORM NEW GOVERNMENT

By DEVON FRANCIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

Rebellious young army officers who killed at least four Japanese "liberal" statesmen in an attempted coup d'etat gave ground in Tokyo today while surviving ministers strove to form a new government.

Capitulation of the insurgent soldiers was communicated by an official source to the Domei news agency late Thursday night, Tokyo time.

The realists, who had held police headquarters and barracks against a tightening ring of loyal troops for 24 hours, were reported to have begun evacuation of the buildings they occupied.

But the original object of the uprising—removal of those government figures they considered inimical to Japan's best interests and the establishment of an ultra-patriotic nationalist government—appeared nearing achievement.

An anxious Europe anticipated firm army rule in Japan on the heels of the mass assassinations. Diplomatic circles echoed the question: Will war eventuate from the conflict between Japanese militarists and the more conservative liberals?

The answer to the question lay in day-long conferences at the imperial palace of Emperor Hirohito. While Tokyo grew quiet under the patrolling of loyal troops, backed by martial law, government officials and supreme war councilors tried to select a new premier to succeed the slain Katsuko Okada.

Goto Aoki, premier, remained in charge of the government during the negotiations. A communique received at the Japanese embassy in London said normal conditions virtually had

Police Continue Efforts Rid City Of All Stray Dogs

With citizens responding to appeals of city officials in ridding Corsicana of stray dogs and cats by telephoning police headquarters promptly when the animals appeared in their neighborhoods, the campaign to eliminate the menace of rabies began to show more concrete results Thursday.

Police officials reported a total of 18 dogs executed Wednesday, bringing the total to 43 since the last drive was started, and a continually growing list awaited the attention of officers Thursday morning.

No new outbreaks of the disease among animals of the city has been reported to city officials, but they indicated that it would be necessary to keep constant watch for at least a month before any great portion of the danger would be past.

ROME, Feb. 27.—(P)—A belief that Premier Benito Mussolini soon will denounce the Locarno pact and the Italo-French agreement of Jan. 7, 1925, in dramatic protest to the Franco-British naval accord, gained adherents in informed circles today.

Strong hints that such a move is contemplated were dropped by the Giornale d'Italia, Rome's most authoritative newspaper, in an editorial which said it must be determined whether France's mutual assistance agreement with Britain is "compatible with the general principles of the accord of January 7, 1925, to say nothing of Locarno."

The Locarno pact for mutual assistance was signed on Oct. 16 by representatives of Great Britain, Germany, France, Belgium, Italy, Poland and Czechoslovakia. Principal features of the agreement signed in January of WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—(P)—The forces of Senator Borah of Idaho rolled on toward the primary skirmish grounds of Ohio today, equipped with the required "second choice" for the republican presidential nomination.

Frank E. Gannett of Rochester, N. Y., publisher of a chain of newspapers, will fight alongside the senate veteran for the 52 delegates the Buckeye state will send to the Cleveland convention.

Informing that his Ohio forces had selected Gannett, Borah said: "I have a very high opinion for Mr. Gannett. I think it is a most admirable choice."

Prior to the announcement at Columbus last night, there had not been a hint of the identity of the man who, as required by Ohio law, would be selected to receive the votes of any Ohio delegates pledged to Borah should the latter be blocked in convention. The "second choice" rule does not mean the selected person would be vice-presidential candidate.

Gannett has been a strong supporter of the Idahoan. Last Saturday he issued a statement pointing to Borah as "the only man who can wage a successful campaign against a master politician and arouse the nation to action by vigorous convincing appeal."

TALMADGE RENEWS ASSAULTS ON NEW DEAL IN STATEMENT

ADMINISTRATION IS BLAMED WITH HIS INABILITY TO BE FINANCIAL DICTATOR

ATLANTA, Feb. 27.—(P)—Governor Eugene Talmadge, in a written statement today said the present situation in Georgia "was deliberately brought about by the new deal to stop Talmadge from campaigning against Roosevelt in the United States."

The governor's statement came on the heels of a move by a state senator for a call for a self-convening legislature to go into the situation in Georgia, a statement of the governor's efforts to operate the state this year without an appropriations bill.

"They have gone to the length of backing up a suspended treasurer," Talmadge said, "in taking over twenty million dollars worth of bonds out of the vaults of the state."

FURTHER SHIFT TO FASCISM IN JAPAN FORESEEN IN MOSCOW

ANTICIPATE SERIOUS CONSEQUENCES IN FOREIGN POLICIES

By JOHN LLOYD
Associated Press Foreign Staff.
MOSCOW, Feb. 27.—(P)—In Soviet Russia's first official reaction to the Tokyo military uprising, the authoritative commentator Karl Radek today predicted the attempted coup would mean "a further shift toward military rule" in Japan, with possible serious consequences in foreign policy.

Radek, writing in the government newspaper Izvestia, expressed the belief the Japanese plotters "were convinced force would not be used against them, and therefore the result will be a further shift toward military rule."

"It may have very serious consequences in Japan's foreign policy," he added.

The recent series of sanguinary conflicts on the borders of Soviet-advantaged Manchoukuo and Japanese-dominated Manchoukuo have brought the foreign policies of

RICHLAND JUNIOR BOYS WINNER OVER M'CORD FOR TITLE

Richland's junior boys defeated M'Cord 19-16 on the Y. M. C. A. court here Tuesday night to win the 1936 Navarro county junior boys' basketball tournament, which opened last Friday. By virtue of their win in their semi-final game, M'Cord is accorded the second place title, and Rice Navarro 18-11 in the consolation game, for their place.

Thirteen teams opened the tournament last Friday, which continued through the semi-final games on Saturday.

To annex the title, Richland defeated Emhouse 29-5 in their first game, and then glided over Phillips Chapel 42-7 in their quarter-final game. Richland defeated Rice 30-11 in their semi-final game to advance into the finals, and to delegate Rice to the consolation bracket.

M'Cord played one less game than Richland, and defeated Headquarters 21-11, for the quarter-final event, and Navarro 42-15 in the semi-final.

Rice had defeated Emmett, and Powell, while Navarro advanced with a forfeit from State Home, and a 28-11 win over Elkhart.

LETTER DESCRIBES HURRICANE'S SWEEP IN SAMOAN HARBOR

The following interesting letter, dated aboard the U. S. S. Oregan, tells most interestingly of a hurricane that swept the island of Tutuila on January 18th. The letter is from Tom B. Hipps, and was written to his father, W. T. Hipps of this city. The letter, in part, follows:

Pleased to receive two letters, one dated Jan. 4, and the other Dec. 26.

A great many things have happened since the steamer left here last—both good and bad. On the 15th of January the Mariposa left here for Honolulu. One day later the worst hurricane that Samoa has had in many years hit the island of Tutuila.

I have probably explained before the harbor of Pago Pago is almost enclosed by mountains something like a cup with one side open toward the sea. The storm entered at the mouth of the harbor, called Breakers Point, gained a speed somewhere in the vicinity of 100 miles per hour, and flattened out buildings and of course about 2 p. m. and lasted all night, till about 10 a. m. the next day.

During the day when the wind was at its height, the motor ship Tutuila turned over and then turned back up again. The wind would blow hard and straight, increasing all the time, then suddenly it would stop for about 10 seconds, and then begin twisting. Of course it was too bad for anything in its path when it started twisting.

There were no casualties during the storm except myself. I received a couple of well smashed fingers, but as you can see, they are OK now.

Did you ever see a waterfall going uphill? Well, when the wind blows so hard it reverses the direction of flow of a waterfall it is some wind. That is what happened here. Good picture of it, but don't know whether it will come out OK or not because it was so dark.

Of course there is also the funny side to this hurricane. A native living in the village of Leone, tied his fole to a tree to prevent it from blowing away. When the wind had reached its height, the fole seemed steady enough, but the big tree could take it, so it uprooted and went to work.

The old Monterey brought me some good news from Washington. Learned I am number 66 on the Bureau's list for chief.

Well, its only 42 more days till we leave for Honolulu to the navy yard at Pearl Harbor for one month's repairs. Guess that will be a big help in breaking up 18 months in Samoa.

Had better close and get to work.

Mexia Student Is Elected President Fraternity Chapter

MEXIA, Feb. 27.—(Spl.)—William Kermit Horn, of Mexia, elected president of the Alpha Beta Chapter, Sigma Tau Delta, of Southwestern University, at Georgetown. Sigma Tau Delta is a national honorary fraternity for students of English who show outstanding abilities in creative writing. The Southwestern chapter will take an active part this year in the formation of state wide organization which will give recognition to Texas authors, at the Centennial.

Mr. Horn, in addition to his creative writings, has done excellent work in journalism, having been editor of both the Megaphone, school paper, and the Southwestern Magazine. As head of the last named publication, he was one of the 21 boys in the United States, selected on the All-American Board of Editors, in 1935.

Additional Old Age Pension Application Blanks Received

There were 600 old age assistance blanks received at the office of C. E. McWilliams, county judge Thursday morning.

Scores of persons called for the blanks during the morning.

Local officials had been without blanks for the past several days. The new supply was sent here by W. R. Thomas of Athens, district supervisor.

skimming across a hillside and his fole went bouncing along after the tree.

After the storm was finished the natives began rebuilding, but on the fourth of February the old barometer started dropping again. The wind increasing, but didn't last very long. Guess we only got the end of this one.

The barometer is still low and an occasional coconut comes sailing through the air as a result of high winds, so I wish that other hurricane would make up its mind and hit again or leave.

The old Monterey brought me some good news from Washington. Learned I am number 66 on the Bureau's list for chief.

PAVLOFF, NOTED PHYSIOLOGIST OF RUSSIA IS DEAD

LENINGRAD, U. S. S. R., Feb. 27.—(P)—Ivan Petrovitch Pavloff, the physiologist who became internationally famous for his "purely materialistic" theory of conditioned reflexes and for his research into the mental processes of animals, died today of influenza. He was 86 years old.

The son of a village priest, he argued that human life is based on reflexes or reactions of the nervous system to outside influences. This, the soviet encyclopedia says, applies to "the highest, nervous activity—formerly called the soul."

Conduct of both men and animals, Pavloff maintained, is directly dependent upon this relationship between organism and its environment.

The soviet government contributed large sums toward his scientific work. He had extensive laboratories in the Leningrad district, at Koltushy, and was director of the physiological section of the Institute of Experimental Medicine as well as the Physiological Institute of the Academy of Sciences.

Pioneer Hill County Resident Is Buried Tuesday Afternoon

HILLSBORO, Feb. 26.—Funeral services for Herbert Alexander Bryan, aged 73 years, pioneer Hill county, who died at his home 10 miles northwest of Hillsboro Monday, were held Tuesday from the Baptist church at Woodbury with interment in the Woodbury cemetery.

Mr. Bryan was a native of Johnson county, but had resided in Hill county for 63 years.

Surviving are his wife, four brothers, three sisters, three children and two step-sons. One stepson, Richard Perigo, resides at Chalfield.

M. L. Bowers, resident state highway engineer, went to Dallas Wednesday morning on official business.

J. Wesley Harris, county commissioner, of Blooming Grove, was in Corsicana Tuesday afternoon.

Prince who took part in the negotiations, is personally known by many of the rebels.

Prince Chichibu made a long train trip from Aomori Prefecture, where he is an officer in the army's eighth division, to take part in the councils of the government.

The prince, from 1930 to 1932, served as a captain in the third infantry regiment to which the majority of the rebels belong. He now is a major in command of a battalion.

The agreement with the rebels was understood to be confined to their promise to return to their regimental barracks at Azabu, leaving the question of their punishment for future negotiation.

Agree to Dissolve.

An authority stated that the rebels had agreed to dissolve their insurrectionary organization and to submit at once to the order of their regimental commanders.

They must be back in barracks by 8 a. m., Friday, the rebels are permitted to retain their arms.

Among the first to leave were said to be those who had occupied the residence of the late Premier Okada, whom they assassinated in their sudden uprising Wednesday before dawn.

Many of the insurgents gathered in the famous Koraku restaurant at the foot of Nagatsuta Hill.

Loyal army forces ruled the imperial capital under martial law, and warships of the imperial navy steamed into positions to help enforce public order.

The insurgents were enclosed in a cordon of soldiers under the command of Lieutenant General Kashi, enforcing martial law in the name of the emperor, who was himself seeking a new government to replace that blasted from power by assassins' guns.

The second fleet, in command of Vice Admiral Viscount Takayoshi Kato, arrived at Osaka Bay, on the southern end of the main island. The first fleet was expected to arrive tonight at the Yokosuka naval base, at the mouth of Tokyo bay.

Crowds Throng Waterfront.

Curious crowds thronged to the waterfront at Shibaura, a suburb of Tokyo, to gaze at the first destroyers which arrived there yesterday from the Yokosuka base.

Surviving leaders of the empire, members of the cabinet of the assassinated premier Keisuke Okada, supreme war councilors and other high military officials, convened at Hirohito's palace to select a new premier.

Speculation over the identity of the next premier mentioned most frequently Baron Kichiro Hirayama, president of the privy council, and noted head of fascist organizations, and former war minister, Gen. Sadao Araki.

A belief grew in political circles that the emperor's advisers would urge the right would be given a chance to form a cabinet to see whether they would be able to conduct the government.

Even liberal political sources shared this belief, confident that such an experiment would produce a strong public reaction to the left, permitting early restoration of a normal government.

The search by princes, ministers and the highest military officials for a successor to Okada continued throughout the day, the conferees declaring they intended to remain in the palace until a new regime was named.

Kato Joins Parley.

The admiral, "hat" Admiral Kato, retired former chief of the navy general staff, joined the deliberations this afternoon with Secretary Hull has sent the fol-

Farm And Ranch Utility And Cold Storage Unit Designed To Meet Growing Demands

EXTERIOR VIEW OF UNIT

COLD STORAGE ROOM

SMOKE HOUSE

SINK & WORK TABLE

FURNACE & SCALDING VAT

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 27.—

(Sp.)—A practical farm and ranch utility and cold storage unit, designed to meet the growing demand for such a plant on the well managed farm or ranch, has been developed at the Texas A. and M. College. Uses of the plant, which might also be called a home processing unit, are surprisingly numerous. Its four main features include a cold storage room, a scalding vat with furnace that may be put to many uses, a smoke house, a sink with running water and the necessary large wooden work table. The unit affords complete facilities for the killing, dressing, refrigeration, storage and curing of meats. The large furnace for the scalding vat can be used when desired as a barbecue pit. The unit may be used as a canning plant, laundry, for rendering lard, as a milk room, for the storage of dairy products, eggs, fruits and vegetables and for various other purposes. It affords, in short, a general utility work and storage room for the farm and ranch, not of a seasonal nature but for service the year around.

The supreme war council was interpreted to mean ultra-nationalists views were prevailing in strong support of Kato, a leader of the ultra-patriotic faction of the navy.

Others mentioned as possibilities for the premiership were Prince Narukihiko Higashi-Kuni, a member of the supreme war council, and Prince Fumimaro Kono.

A brief announcement disclosed that the late premier, Okada, was buried with simple rites, conducted by two of his secretaries, and with no distinguished persons present. The place and time of the funeral were not mentioned.

The government also announced this afternoon that Finance Minister Korekiyo Takahashi died after being attacked yesterday, bringing the total number of government leaders dead to four.

Admit Premier's Death.

The details of the premier's death were finally disclosed. The insurgents rushed into his residence about 5 a. m., yesterday overpowered the police guard, invaded the bedroom and shot Okada.

He was able to flee and reached the garden of his home, but already wounded mortally, he fell in the snow and died.

The premier's residence is a heavy aquat structure of built brick on a 100-foot hill surrounded by a five foot wall in a park near the magnificent new parliament building, overlooking a valley toward the United States embassy, a quarter of a mile away.

Meetings "if used to discuss the present situation," were banned. Newspapers and periodicals were forbidden to publish anything deemed detrimental to public peace and order.

Traffic In Arms Banned.

Sale, giving and receiving of arms and munitions were banned under pain of severe penalties.

Ambassador Grew of the United States visited the foreign office today and conveyed the condolences of the Washington government to Japan over the assassinations of Premier Okada.

Finance Minister Korekiyo Takahashi, Admiral Makoto Saito, lord keeper of the privy seal, and Gen. Jotaro Watanabe, director of military education.

Later the American envoy visited the homes of the victims and expressed his condolences directly to the families.

At the Saito home, the Viscountess Saito, with her hand bandaged as the result of a gunshot wound, was able to receive the ambassador.

The viscount and viscountess Saito were dinner guests of Ambassador Grew in the American Embassy a few hours before the assassinations.

Embassy attaches said that so far as they knew no American individuals or interests were harmed in the uprising which showed no anti-American tendencies.

Message of Regret.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Secretary Hull has sent the fol-

An important feature of the plant in the opinion of the designers is that, with the exception of the machinery required for the refrigerating unit, the plant with all its facilities can be built on the farm with ordinary labor, no especial skill being required. The cost, if held to a minimum, if desired, this depending on the kind of material used and whether a small building is already available for conversion into the unit's quarters.

The plant at the college was designed by Fred Hale, chief of the division of swine husbandry of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, and J. C. Harrison, mechanical engineer of the Texas Engineering Experiment Station.

The only expert labor required was in the installation of the cold storage machinery which is included in its cost.

The building at the college is a frame structure twenty feet square and ten feet high, the frame walls being set on two-foot concrete base of five-inch walls. The floor of the structure is concrete with slope to a drain in the center.

The cold storage room has inside dimensions of 4x6x8 feet, a total of 192 cubic feet of space. The double walls are of tongue-in-groove sheathing, both inside and outside, on 2x8 studs. The sheeting was put on over builder's paper and the 8-inch space between the walls filled with granulated cork. The double doors, with air space between, fasten against felt sealing strips. Homemade wedge-type latches are used. Ordinary gas engine is used for the refrigerating unit. Interior of the cold storage room is covered with two coats of aluminum paint.

The furnace is eighteen inches wide and five feet eight inches long (interior dimensions) with open pit in front. Brick smokestack leads out through the roof of the building. The furnace is open at the top and is built of concrete. When not in use the scalding vat can be lifted off the furnace, permitting use of latter for other purposes.

The smoke house is of simple construction, having an interior four feet wide, three feet deep and eight feet high. An ordinary galvanized iron wash tub, partly filled with dirt, serves well as a firebox.

Sink and drain with water connections occupy a fourth corner of the room. Two wooden tables, one for scraping hogs at the scalding vat, the other a general work table, are located as desired.

The cost of the entire unit at the college, including all material, labor and equipment, was $210 a square foot of floor space, or $840 for the unit. This cost, however, could be materially lowered where building was already available. Brick or rock could be used instead of concrete for floor and base.

Automobile engine or electric motor, where electricity is available, could be used for the refrigerating plant.

Cost figures on the cold storage room and refrigerating equipment are $250 a cubic foot of storage space in the unit at the college as compared to about $30 a cubic foot of space provided in the commercial type of mechanically refrigerated boxes.

There are in Texas more than 500,000 farms, according to the Bureau of the Census, and more than 20,000 of these are operated by full and part owners, the type of farm and ranch for which the utility and cold storage unit is expected to appeal particularly.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Secretary Roper today labeled "slander" any assertions that he is trying to interfere with the progress of sea safety legislation.

He made this statement at a press conference in explaining that two commerce department shipping aides have been dismissed for "violent insubordination" in connection with the premature publication of a report criticizing present safety aids.

The resignation of Joseph B. Weaver, director of the bureau of navigation, also was predicted in official quarters.

"Let me say this to all of you," the secretary said, "We greatly appreciate your attempts to correct to inform the public on what we are trying to do."

"The development of a marine authority to take all shipping administration away from the commerce department was a matter of fact, suggested here. The idea that any one should say we are trying to stop legislation in order to hold this patronage is a slander."

The two aides who have been dismissed are Commander H. McCoy Jones and Frederick L. Adams, their dismissal has not been announced formally but will be shortly.

The dismissal was attributed to their refusal to answer questions regarding premature release of a report criticizing present ship safeguards.

Weaver said: "I'm not going to resign now."

"I'm going to finish my job. I'm going to put this service in the best possible shape."

The report which led to the dismissals was released by newspapers without going through the commerce department's regular publicity channels.

It was prepared by the department's board of supervising inspectors, and it complained of lack of funds and facilities for inspecting ships and warned that some ships were not safe.

Weaver, at the time, was making a tour of the nation's ports in the west. After inspecting from another department were called in to question Adams and Jones relative to the publication, and they refused to answer the questions until Weaver returned.

When he did reach the capital about 10 days ago, Weaver recommended to Secretary Roper that charges against Jones be dismissed, and that Adams be transferred to another department. His associates understood then that this recommendation would be accepted, but Assistant Secretary J. Monroe Johnson said last week that there were no intimations to that effect given Weaver.

It has not been disclosed who sent the report to the newspapers. Commerce officials have maintained that the actual publication was not the matter in controversy, nor the contents of the report, but simply that Jones and Adams were "insubordinate."

Weaver said Adams and Jones were appointed last spring, Assistant Secretary Johnson recommended, and Jones on the recommendation of a member of Roper's family.

"great sacrifice,"

"However," said Gannett, "such a grave crisis confronts the nation that all who believe in our precious institutions, who wish to preserve the constitution and the integrity of the supreme court must be ready and willing to make any sacrifices."

At his winter home in Miami Beach, Fla., Gannett declared he had been persuaded to have his name on the ballot only after a long talk with Senator Borah, which he convinced me of his deep sincerity and his determination to make a vigorous fight for the nomination.

The Republican state central committee of Ohio was in session today to decide whether it will support the potential candidate. It must do either that or follow its original plan of putting an untried delegation in the field.

The republican pre-convention activity speeded up the G. O. P. was assailed in Chicago by Secretary Icke as "cold blooded exploiters" of the negro.

In an address before the Chicago Urban League, an interracial organization to aid negroes, Icke declared:

"During political campaigns the republicans were the solicitous friends of the race, but between campaigns it was a different matter; then the economic exploiter could have his will with the negro."

The political bureau, is kept in a cell together with twelve others. Last year an additional five years was added to his original five year imprisonment for his alleged participation in plotting a terrorist assassination of Stalin.

Accurate and absolutely objective information by Cligga, Tarov, and others prove increasing antagonism between the bureaucracy and the developing population. The bureaucracy is compelled to have recourse to the sharpest repressions, not in the interests of the Soviet state, but of its own self-preservation.

It is indisputable that enemies of the Soviet Union and of its friendly relations with the United States, make use of such information for their own purposes. But the way to avoid such misuse is not to conceal the facts of the bureaucracy crime, but to put an end to the crimes themselves.

Following message to the Japanese foreign minister, Koki Hirota, through the American embassy in Tokyo:

"On behalf of the American government and people I assure you of the deep regret with which we have learned of the death of distinguished officials of the Japanese government, and I extend to you our sincere condolences."

More Than Score Of Dogs Killed Here by Officers

More than a score of dogs have been killed during the present elimination campaign being pushed by city officials and members of the police department were busy again Wednesday in their efforts to rid the city of every stray dog and cat that might be a potential spreader of rabies.

Renewing their plea for the co-operation of every citizen, city officials urged that the presence of stray dogs be reported to police headquarters promptly. They also urged every dog owner to see that his pets were kept confined to his own premises in accordance with the city ordinance.

A word of warning to owners of dogs suspected of having been victims of the rabid animals abroad in the city last week has been issued by local veterinarians who call attention to the fact that ten days is the minimum time in which the disease can develop and then only in the event that the stricken animal was infected in the mouth or on the head. The source of danger cannot be regarded as safe until a period of several weeks has passed they indicated.

JESSE JONES SAYS POLITICS DID NOT HAVE PART IN JOBS

RFC HEAD CONFIRMS FACT THAT PARTY TREASURER DRAWS $90,000 FOR JOBS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—(AP)—Jesse H. Jones said today that "qualifications," not "politics," had dictated appointment of Walter J. Cummings, treasurer of the democratic national committee, to two jobs paying aggregate salaries of $90,000 a year.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation chairman confirmed to newsmen that Cummings is receiving $75,000 as chairman of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago and $15,000 as trustee in the Chicago, Milwaukee St. Paul and Pacific railroad.

Both the bank and the railroad are RFC borrowers. In the senate yesterday, Senator Couzens (R-Mich.), battled unsuccessfully the bill to exempt bank stock held by the RFC from state and local taxation and said:

"If these banks can pay these salaries, they certainly can pay taxes on these preferred stocks."

The bill passed, however, and was sent to the house for consideration.

Jones replied negatively when asked whether Cummings' political connections may have figured in the RFC's recommendations for his appointment to the two jobs.

OBSERVE NATAL DAY MAN OUTSTANDING IN RISE LONE STAR STATE

NAVARRO PLAYED PROMINENT PART IN TEXAS HISTORY

WAS CLOSELY IDENTIFIED WITH STEPHEN F. AUSTIN AND SAM HOUSTON

By CHARLTON GUNTER

Born in a decade in the history of the American continent that produced some of its outstanding characters in all walks of life, Jose Antonio Navarro, a native of Texas, had a career that equalled that of any of his more widely known contemporaries. Even today only a scattering of highpoints of his life are known to the residents of the county which bears his name.

Among Navarro's closest friends and contemporaries were Sam Houston, first president of the Republic of Texas, and Stephen F. Austin, both only two years older and both natives of other states. Among his contemporaries in "the state" were George Bancroft, historian; James Gordon Bennett, publisher and newspaper man; John Hopkins, founder of the university bearing his name; John Ericsson and Charles Goodyear, and Samuel F. B. Morse, inventors; among the literary men were William Cullen Bryant, Joseph Rodman Drake, Nathaniel Hawthorne, Ralph Waldo Emerson; William H. McGuffey of textbook fame; William H. Seward, secretary of state; and many others of like calibre.

At the presentation of the portrait of Navarro to the county four years ago, a sketch of his life was presented by Richard Mays. Because of a revival of interest in historical literature, a summary of this work is presented again.

Born in San Antonio
Navarro was born in San Antonio on February 27, 1795, the son of Don Angel Navarro, a native of the Isle of Corsica who rose to the rank of colonel in the Spanish army, then immigrated to Mexico, married Josepha Ruiz, and after several years settled in San Antonio and entered the mercantile business.

Antonio received as good an education as was afforded by the times and later studied law, becoming a practitioner by the age of 25, continuing in his profession until his public services demanded all of his time. In 1825 he was married to Margarita de la Garza of Mier, Mexico. He was the father of seven children by this marriage, and two of his sons later served in the Confederate Army.

He represented the District of Bexar in the Congress of the State of Coahuila and Texas in 1828, and voted in favor of a bill to permit immigrants to bring their slaves into the territory with them, and by his vote was branded as an "Americanized Texan" by his associates. He retired from public life temporarily and established a ranch near San Antonio in what is now Atascosa county, later becoming land commissioner for DeWitt's colony.

In 1833 he was elected by the Junta Electoral of the supplemental representative from the Bexar district; he was land commissioner for the Bexar district in 1834-35. In 1835 he was elected to the Federal Congress of Mexico as senator from Coahuila and Texas but because he knew of the secret plans for a revolt from Mexico he declined to qualify.

Signer of Historic Documents
With Samuel Houston, he was a member from the Bexar district to the convention held at Washington on the Brazos on March 2, 1836, and was also a member of the first constitutional convention on March 1, 1845. He was a signer of both of these historic documents, and was one of four of the leading Spanish families who joined the fight for independence.

In 1838, he represented the Bexar district in the congress of the Republic of Texas. In 1841, he was named one of three commissioners to accompany the ill-fated Santa Fe expedition, and was captured by the Mexicans near Santa Fe, N. Mex., and later taken to Mexico City, a journey requiring almost five months.

Navarro was tried by court-martial and sentenced to death, but for some reason the extreme penalty was set aside and he was sentenced to life imprisonment in the dungeon of the tropical prison of San Juan D'Ulloa at Vera Cruz. He was kept in solitary confinement until 1845, when he was permitted to escape when the Mexican administrations were changed, and Santa Anna was no longer in power. During his captivity he was offered his liberty and high office if he would renounce and abandon Texas, which he refused to accept.

Elected Delegate
Upon his return home in 1845 he was elected a delegate to the convention which passed the joint resolution providing for the annexation of Texas to the United States; he was also a member of the convention which adopted the first state constitution. After Texas was admitted into the union, he served the Bexar district in the state senate.

141st Anniversary Birth Texas Patriot

JOSE ANTONIO NAVARRO

Celebration today of the 141st anniversary of the birth of Jose Antonio Navarro, one of the founders of Texas, on February 27, 1795, in San Antonio recalls the rich but little publicized contributions of the Corsican-Spaniard who played a distinguished role along with Sam Houston and his close friend, Stephen F. Austin, in the early days of the settlement of the southwest. Since this county was named in honor of the great patriot, and even Corsicana derived its name from the original home of his father (the Isle of Corsica, in the Mediterranean), the work of Navarro becomes the rich heritage of those who were born in this area or who call this portion of central Texas their home.

Oil Painting of Navarro
Four years ago a beautiful oil painting of Navarro, executed by Jacob Stossek, was presented to the citizenry by Richard Mays, attorney and member of the same profession as the patriot followed before his public services occupied all of his time. The painting now hangs in the Thirteenth Judicial District Courtroom on the second floor of the courthouse. The portrait was unveiled by E. L. Calkins, Jr., a grandson of the late Judge C. M. Winkler, first Navarro county representative in the Texas legislature who collaborated with Navarro in securing passage of a bill that moved the county seat from Howe's residence to Corsicana.

As a further recognition of the outstanding service rendered Texas by Navarro, the Texas Centennial Control Commission several months ago awarded this county a bronze statue of the patriot, and recently a decision has been reached to locate the monument on the lawn of courthouse.

As a continuation of the call of service rendered Texas by the man for whom the county was named, it was peculiarly appropriate that the Texas Centennial movement should have been born in Corsicana, and should have had as its guide through many years, a native of the county, Lowry Martin.

Centennial Started Here
The Centennial movement grew out of a suggestion made at an advertising club's convention held in Corsicana in November, 1923, was quickly accepted by the people of Texas, and for more than a decade by far the great majority of the activity connected with the movement was centered in Corsicana, headquarters for the event. The aid and co-operation Corsicana and Navarro residents kept the plan alive during this extended period, and it was not until about four years ago that the movement began to assume its ultimate form with the passage of suitable legislation by the Texas legislature following an intensive campaign by the Texas Press association, again with the Corsicana publisher, Lowry Martin at its helm. As a finale to its extended activity in behalf of the Centennial, Corsicana was the headquarters for the intensive publicity campaign that resulted in spirited bidding for the central exposition site, and the culmination of the celebration in 1936.

Later this year Navarro county will celebrate the 90th anniversary of its organization. The county was created by an act of the First Texas Legislature on April 25, 1846, with Navarro as a member of the senate, about a year after he had escaped from the dungeon of the tropical prison of San Juan D'Ulloa at Vera Cruz. The county was organized on July 13, 1846, and originally included the greater part of what is now known as Central Texas.

DIRECT DESCENDANT OF ANTONIO NAVARRO MAY UNVEIL STATUE

HOME OF GREAT GREAT GRANDDAUGHTER IS IN CORPUS CHRISTI

Unveiling of the statue of Jose Antonio Navarro to be erected in this county sometime this year by a direct descendant of the Texas patriot has become a strong possibility following the receipt of a letter recently by Mayor J. S. Murchison. The statue will be located on the lawn of the Navarro county courthouse but other details remain to be divulged by the Texas Centennial Control Commission who awarded the monument. A representative of the commission is now on tour in North Texas visiting the sites of other monuments and is expected to visit Corsicana shortly on the final details of the project.

The letter is self-explanatory: The Honorable Mayor, Corsicana, Texas.

Dear Sir: As a past president, and as the incoming president of the Clara Driscoll Sevier Chapter, Daughters of the Republic of Texas, also as a member of the State Board of Management of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas, I am taking the liberty of addressing you regarding the monument which is to be erected in your city to the memory of Antonio Navarro. We have living here in Corpus Christi a great great granddaughter of Antonio Navarro and his wife Theodora Corsicana (for whose family the city of Corsicana was named) and I am anxious to have this little lady unveil this monument and take part in its dedication upon its completion if it can possibly be arranged. It seems to me that this would be particularly fitting and would certainly add a great deal to the historical color and significance of the occasion.

This chapter of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas would greatly appreciate this honor being conferred upon this young lady. I wish to make it clear that I am in no way related with the young lady in question and my interest in the matter is purely disinterested and is prompted by the desire to see the historical significance of our Centennial carried out to the fullest. I have also addressed a letter to the Board of Control at Austin regarding this matter and in an attempt to have this request granted.

Thanking you for any consideration you may be able to show my request and with kindest regards, I am,

Yours very truly,
Mrs. C. J. Wilde, President, Clara Driscoll Sevier Chapter, Daughters of the Republic of Texas, Corpus Christi, Texas.

Card of Thanks.
I take great pleasure in thanking my friends for their kindness and help that they have given me, and as they journey along life's highway may their lives be filled with lots of health and happiness. Again I thank all of you for your help, and may God's richest blessings rest upon each and every one of you.

Mr. Luther J. Ware and daughter, Deloyce Marie Ware.

News of County Home Demonstration Clubs

Mt. Nebo Club.
The Mt. Nebo Home Demonstration Club met Monday, Feb. 24, in the home of Mrs. Leonard Frost. There were nine members, one visitor, and one new member present. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Tommy Nevens. Minutes were read and stood as approved, after which a short business meeting was held. Miss McNabb, county home demonstrator, also met with us.

The booklet "Feeding the Family" and charts for keeping the family record for meals were discussed in general by Miss McNabb. Also an interesting playlet was given by Mrs. Leonard Frost and Mrs. M. M. Goggin.

Plans were made for the next meeting to be held March 2, for the purpose of cutting and checking foundation patterns. Refreshments of pimento cheese sandwiches and hot chocolate were served to the following: Mrs. M. M. Goggin, Mrs. J. Bledsoe, Mrs. C. C. Frost, Mrs. C. Kleinschmidt, Mrs. McCage, Mrs. Frost, Mrs. Lillie Grace Frost, Miss Ruby Lois Daugherty, Mrs. Fred Eddy, and Miss McNabb. —Reporter.

GOING TO

"Going to write him a letter," he'd say.
"Going to stop in to see him.
Yes, I'm Going that block or two out of my way.
When I get time."
"Going to tell him of friends that
I've seen;
Going to take him a novel or two.
Yes sir! That's one of the things that I've been Intending to do!"
"Dead! Did you say? Oh, that cannot be so!"
Dead, and I never got round
there at all!
I wonder, by chance, at the last
did he know
I was going to call?"

PRIVATE SECURITY PLAN

Social security may come from private as well as public sources, as was pointed out the other day by Phil H. Hanna, editor of the Chicago Journal of Commerce, speaking to a bankers' association. He strongly advised business in general to adopt a profit-sharing plan for employees as a solution for the social security problem.

He advocated this not as social justice or philanthropy, but as sound business policy. "The heights that this country could reach in business activity," he declared, "if every employee came to believe he had a vital interest in the success of his employer, baffles the imagination."

Such partnership between employers and employees has succeeded notably in many business enterprises. Where it can be accomplished, it is obviously better in many ways than governmental action for security.

POETS' POEMS.

It is reported that John Massfield, poet laureate of England, has been driven to writing poetry with his left hand because of an injured right hand. Mr. Massfield has been in the United States for some weeks and has been lionized on the Pacific Coast, in New York and wherever he has given public readings of his poems. The hand injury was caused by too much enthusiastic shaking.

Two questions about this situation occur to us. What will left-handed poetry by a normally right-handed author be like? Modern pedagogy and psychology are fairly well agreed that left-handed youngsters should not be compelled to write with their right hands. It isn't good for their nervous systems.

Second, are poems as popular as a poets? Do the people who hear Mr. Massfield read, and who crowd around to shake his hand, sit in an easy chair at home and read his and others' poems for themselves? We hope they do. It is a good way to spend some leisure hours.

UNCLE WILL COLLECT.

The Federal Housing Administration, finding that there is a "general misunderstanding" of how defaulted loans will be handled, and too much tendency to slide into defaults, makes this statement:

"It will be the policy of the FHA to be just as rigid as the Treasury Department is in the collection of taxes. The collection machinery is well organized, and while every reasonable consideration will be given to borrowers in default, the public must not get the impression that the Housing Administration will be lax."

Uncle Sam has been generous in providing funds and low interest rates on these loans. It is unreasonable now for the borrowers to expect more consideration from him than they would from responsible private bankers in their own communities. With a lax collection policy, the government as a lending agency would soon be sunk.

Theodore Roosevelt laid down the American principle of self-defense. "Speak softly and carry a big stick." All we can add to it is, "Don't brandish the stick!"

While the doctors are holding their consultations about agriculture, the patient seems to be getting stronger.

SAM THE SNOW MAN!

IDLENESS AND CIVILIZATION

The current topic for general conversational confusion seems to be leisure. J. P. Morgan started it with his statement that civilization would fail if there were no leisure class. Since then the argument has become complicated to such an extent there will have to be a show-down on definitions.

Some of the arguers think of a leisure class as the group of people with income enough to do as they please without working for their living. They may work, but it is by choice, not necessity. Others mean only people with some time regularly free from business routine. That might be stretched to include the millions of unemployed, who have no business obligations but whose tragic leisure is actually enforced idleness. Civilization is hardly benefited by their situation.

More Pension Blanks. Another supply of old age assistance applications will be available at the office of the county judge by Thursday, Judge C. E. McWilliams announced Wednesday, after he had been informed a quantity had been forwarded from the office of the district supervisor at Athens.

Nine were assessed fines in the court of Judge W. T. McFadden Monday as follows: gambling 5, overloading truck, 1; theft, 1; and drunkenness, 2.

Three white men were charged with burglary and theft before Judge McFadden as a result of the recovery of a quantity of loot in North Corsicana Monday allegedly taken from the home of Henry Nelson on the Pocomp about several miles north of Corsicana Saturday night. The missing groceries, etc., were recovered by Deputy Sheriffs Walter Hayes and Jack Floyd.

One was fined for drunkenness and another for disturbing the peace Monday by Judge M. Bryant.

Wortham Man I Painfully Wounded By Accidental Shot

Lynn Adams of Wortham, who was accidentally shot in the left leg Monday, is resting well in the Navarro Clinic where he was brought for treatment.

Mr. Adams was riding over his pasture near Currie scolding about his cattle when in some manner a 22 calibre rifle, which he carried to shoot crows and hawks, was accidentally discharged, the bullet striking him in the left leg just above the knee. A gash several inches long was torn in the flesh but the wound was not thought to be serious.

FIFTEEN DOGS AND ONE CAT KILLED BY POLICE DEPARTMENT

OFFICIALS CONTINUE THEIR EFFORTS RID CITY OF ROVING CANINES

Fifteen dogs and one cat, a majority of them known to have been victims of the two rabid animals that preyed at large over the city of Corsicana last week, were executed by members of the police department Monday, and a long list of additional victims was waiting the attention of officers before mid-morning Tuesday as the drive to rid the city of all possible infection from rabies continued.

While no human victims of the animals have yet been reported, a considerable number of citizens who might have been exposed to the dread disease have started the preventative treatment under the care of their regular physician.

Pet owners in all parts of the city were reported keeping their animals under close observation in confinement as a further protective and precautionary measure. Livestock owners were also warned to watch their stock and protect it against any possible attack by stray dogs or cats.

City officials repeated their notices of intention Tuesday to continue the intensive campaign until every stray animal in the city had been destroyed and all possible menaces had been removed.

Continued co-operation of the public in reporting promptly the presence of stray dogs or cats in a neighborhood was asked by Mayor J. S. Murchison, and Chief of Police Will S. Knight. Citizens are asked to call telephone No. 199 when strays appear in their neighborhood and co-operate with the police department in ridding the city of the menaces.

A number of dog owners were reported to have placed their animals under the care of a veterinarian until the normal development period has passed, while others were having dogs vaccinated against the disease.

For District Judge.

Herein is briefly submitted my candidacy for the office of District Judge of Navarro County, subject to the will of the people as expressed at the democratic primary.

I was born and reared at Petty's Chapel in Navarro County and received my education in the public schools of the county and in the University of Texas, from which I graduated in 1921, and since which time I have been actively engaged in the general practice of law.

Like most young men of my generation, I volunteered into the service of my country during the World War and spent a little over two years in the army, one year of which time was spent in France.

Having lived my life among the people of this county, and realizing that I owe to them whatever opportunities and advantages I have enjoyed, I shall consider it an honor and privilege to serve them, and solicit their support on that basis.

If the people see fit to elect me to the high office of District Judge, I have but one promise to make, and that is to give my entire time and undivided attention to administering the duties of the office in an honest and efficient manner, and in fairness alike to all men whatever their station and circumstances in life, and with the least possible expense to the taxpayers.

It will be my purpose to conduct a clean, independent campaign on my own merits and responsibility without incurring either animosities or obligations that might hamper me in the fair and fearless discharge of the duties of the office in case I should be elected.

Respectfully submitted,
WAYNE HOWELL

Recent Bride Is Honoree of Tea And Shower at Navarro

Mrs. A. J. Hagler, formerly Miss Beatrice Bass, teacher of English in the Mildred High school, who is a bride of a few weeks, was complimented with a tea and shower on Saturday, February 22 at 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. G. C. Goodin of Navarro.

Hostesses for this very lovely compliment were Meses Goodin Navarro, Aaron Montgomery, Eureka; George Robertson, Mildred; H. A. Garland, Mildred; Miss Jack Shields and Miss Eloise Johnston, Eureka; Miss Ruby Wilson and Miss Dorothy Sweatman, Corsicana.

The home was decorated most attractively with red godetias, white sweet peas and fern. The dining table laid in lace, was centered with a red and white floral arrangement of godetias and sweet peas in a crystal and silver vase. The rich silver tea services were provided over by Miss Sweatman and Miss Wilson. They were assisted in serving the tea dainties carrying out the red and white color note, by Mrs. H. A. Garland and Mrs. Aaron Montgomery.

The receiving line included Mrs. Goodin, the hostess, the honoree Mrs. A. J. Hagler, Mrs. John Hagler, mother of the bridegroom, Mrs. Charlie Watson of Stewart's Mill, Mrs. John L. F. Brown of Streetman; Mrs. Billie Daniels of Fairfield; Miss Mae Fair Hagler, Mrs. Hallie Bass and Mrs. Batson Bass.

After greeting the receiving line, guests were asked to sign their names in the bride's book, with Miss Jack Shields presiding, and were then invited into the dining room for refreshments.

When all the guests had arrived Miss Eloise Johnston gave a toast to the bride.

Readings were given by Mary Beth Goodin, Katie Lee Bonner, Virginia Howard and Mary Elvin Collins. A piano solo was given by Mrs. Westbrook.

Miss Imogene Knight then gave a toast to the bride, and as she concluded the toast, a loud knock was heard at the door, and Katie Lee Bonner and Mary Elvin Collins came running in with arms full of gifts for the bride which the postman had presumably brought.

The gifts, which were lovely and useful, were from the bride's friends in Eureka, Mildred, Navarro, Corsicana, Roane, Fairfield, Stewart's Mill, Streetman and other communities, were opened and passed around for all to admire. Sixty-five guests were present.

SEVERAL CENTENNIAL CELEBRATIONS TO BE HELD ON MARCH 2ND

OF SPECIAL INTEREST ARE EVENTS PLANNED FOR HUNTSVILLE, BRENHAM

AUSTIN, Feb. 27.—(Sp.)—Texas on next Monday, March 2, will observe the centennial anniversary of the signing of its Declaration of Independence in 1836. The one-hundredth anniversary of Sam Houston, great Texas hero and patriot who is being honored throughout the state during the centennial year.

Six official centennial celebrations are scheduled for March 2. They will be at San Antonio, Houston, Huntsville, Brenham and Washington-on-the-Brazos, Gonzales, and Crockett. In addition there will be a large number of school and club programs.

Of special interest because of their historical significance will be the events planned at Huntsville and Brenham. Huntsville, old home of Sam Houston, has been selected as the site of a centennial celebration which will see the governors of three states meeting with thousands of Texas citizens to honor the Lone Star state. Ceremonies to be held at the home of General Houston will be followed by the ceremonies in the afternoon during which the steamboat house, once the home of Houston, will be presented to the state.

History will be re-enacted at Washington-on-the-Brazos in a pageant which will feature the centennial celebrations planned by the Brenham Chamber of Commerce and the Buddy Wright Post No. 43 of the American Legion. The pageant will feature the signing of the Declaration of Independence on the same spot 100 years ago.

Commemorative ceremonies in honor of the memory of Sam Houston will be held at Crockett. Appropriate ceremonies also are planned at Houston and San Antonio.

The first day sale of the Texas Centennial stamp at Gonzales will attract nation-wide attention to that South Texas city on March 2. The United States Post Office at Gonzales will sell the stamp on the same spot 100 years ago.

BACKGROUND

When the Japanese were given a constitution and a modern parliament by the emperor, the gulf between civil and military officials has widened. Political parties have risen and been thrown by the help of the army and navy. Assassinations of premiers and other high dignitaries have been frequent. Elections have often been accompanied by much bloodshed.

The world war, and the subsequent depression, shook Japan's economic structure. Farmers and civilians suffered and at the same time, the country's internal debt began to assume large proportions. For some time the national budget has been a matter of concern.

With the devaluation of the empire's monetary unit, the yen, Japan began a huge manufacturing movement and her exports soared. Military leaders then launched the Manchurian adventure. China, it was said, came into the scope of the long-planned picture and recently rumblings of the Soviet-Manchoukuo border have indicated to some foreign observers that a war with Russia might be in the making.

Opposition by bankers and prominent Japanese industrialists to an expansion of the military program at this time, because of the serious strain on the nation's finances, was believed to have brought to a head the pent-up ill-feeling between the army and the government.

Foreigners who know the Japanese emphasize the thought that the army coup d'état was not directed against the emperor or the imperial family who are still looked upon by the people of Japan as descendants of the sun and whose lives and property are sacred.

It was noted that one of the reasons given for the latest assassinations and overthrow of the government was the desire to remove "evil influences from around the throne."

Those familiar with Japan also believed that enmity toward the United States was not a factor in the recent occurrences, but that they hinged purely on internal causes.

One of the assassin's victims, Admiral Viscount Saito, lord keeper of the privy seal and a personage who probably was closer to the imperial household than any other was formerly governor general of Korea. Some years ago, at dinner in Seoul, Saito told the writer:

"Japan's problem is not with the United States. True, there are some things America has done, such as the imposition of immigration exclusion, that have hurt our pride. But that does not mean we are looking for a war with your country. Our troubles are at home."

Our population is growing at the rate of about 1,000,000 a year. Something must be done about it. It is a matter of economy as well as possible expansion. We will work out of it, but it will be by military methods. Japan is a modern nation and the soldier will have to work side by side with the industrialist if we are to overcome our difficulties."

Income Tax In A Nutshell

WHO? Single persons who had net income of $1,000 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more, and married couples who had net income of $2,500 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more must file returns.

WHEN? The filing period begins January 1 and ends March 16, 1936.

WHERE? Collector of internal revenue for the district in which the person lives or has his principal place of business.

HOW? See instructions on forms 1040A and 1040.

WHAT? Four per cent normal tax on the amount of net income in excess of $1,000. Personal exemption, credit for dependents, earned income credit, dividends of domestic corporations subject to taxation, and interest on obligations of the United States and obligations of instrumentalities of the United States. Surtax on surtax net income in excess of $4,000.

Income-Tax Don'ts

DON'T prepare your return without first studying the instructions on the form.

DON'T procrastinate. Early assembling of data permits a careful consideration of all tax problems.

DON'T destroy the memoranda from which your return was prepared.

DON'T omit explanation when such information is essential to an intelligent audit. Attach memoranda to your return.

No. 26

Automobile Deductions.

With the question of automobile owners registering in the millions, the question of deductions for the cost of operation and maintenance of a motor car frequently arises. The purchase price of an automobile, whether it is to be used for business or pleasure, cannot be deducted from gross income. If used for business, it is a capital expenditure; if used for pleasure, it is a personal expenditure—both deductions being expressly prohibited by the income-tax law.

Several deductions, however, are allowable in connection with the cost of maintenance and operation of an automobile, used either for business or pleasure. These are: depreciation, repairs, gas, oil, and other necessary operation and upkeep expenses. Depreciation, based on the cost of the car and its estimated useful life, also is deductible.

Other deductible items are as follows: Sums paid during the taxable year for registration fees, drivers' licenses, personal property tax, and municipal taxes; interest on money borrowed for the business or for pleasure; loss sustained by reason of damage while car is being used for business, provided such loss is not covered by insurance or otherwise; damages paid for injury to another, provided that the car was being used for business at the time, and the damage was not covered by insurance or otherwise; and the amount paid for insurance on motor vehicles used for business purposes.

No. 27

Deduction For Tax on Motor Gas.

If an automobile is used for both business and pleasure, all of the maintenance and operating expenses connected therewith, which constitute allowable deductions for federal income-tax purposes, should be allocated to the two uses on the basis of the time that it is used for each. For example, if the total expense of operation and maintenance, plus depreciation, for the taxable year amounted to $800, and the car was used three fourths of the time for business and the balance of the time for pleasure, the allowable deduction for federal income-tax purposes would be $600.

If a law which imposes a tax on gasoline shows that the tax is imposed on the consumer and not on the dealer, the consumer may deduct as a tax, for federal income-tax purposes, the amount of the gasoline tax paid by him, but the taxpayer must have kept records of the payment of such taxes in order that the deduction may be substantiated as is required by the law and the regulations. The federal gasoline tax is not deductible by the consumer. A taxpayer may ascertain whether the gasoline tax imposed by a state is deductible by the consumer or by the dealer by addressing an inquiry to the collector of internal revenue for his district.

In any case where the gasoline purchased is used for business purposes the tax may be added to the cost of the gasoline and deducted as a business expense, but where that is done, the gasoline tax cannot be deducted separately under the item of taxes.

No. 28

Deduction For Traveling Expenses.

To obtain a deduction for traveling expenses, which form an important item in the returns of many taxpayers, certain regulations must be observed. The taxpayer is required to attach to his return a statement showing the nature of business in which engaged, number of days away from home during the taxable year on account of business, amount of expense incidental to meals and lodging, and total amount of "other expenses" incident to travel and claimed as a deduction. Among the other expenses are tips, provided they are reasonable in amount.

Traveling expenses are deductible only when the trip is on business. They are limited to such expenses as are reasonable and necessary in the conduct of the business and directly attributable to it.

Traveling expenses incurred in connection with a journey to another city to accept or seek employment are not deductible. Expenses of a taxpayer who commutes daily from their homes to their places of business are not permitted to deduct the cost of transportation, it being a personal expense.

Claims for deduction for traveling expenses may be substantiated, when required by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, showing in detail the amount and nature of the expenses incurred.

HAUPTMANN

Perrone's identification of Hauptmann.

Governor Gives Version.

On Feb. 17, 1934, seven months after Hauptmann's arrest, the governor said, Perrone was approached by a man at Jerome avenue and Moshulu Parkway, the Bronx. The stranger, who spoke with a German or Scandinavian accent, asked the direction to 36 East Gunhill road.

Perrone told him the statement to police said, there was no such number on East Gunhill road, but one in West Gunhill road. Perrone thought at the time that man looked like the one who gave him the ransom note nearly two years earlier.

He described the man to police as about 38 or 39 years old, about 5 feet, 5 inches tall, with a light complexion, light hair turning gray, one or two upper front teeth missing.

The police report of this was dated March 1, 1934.

Not Like Hauptmann.

Perrone, the governor said, upon a number of different occasions picked out persons whom he said greatly resembled the man who gave him the note and in no case was the description similar to that of Hauptmann.

The governor also remarked that Perrone had indicated at times in a man who formerly lived near Princeton and who was arrested in the Bronx for thefts in New Jersey.

The governor said Perrone could not remember the name of the man who resembled the note sender more than any other suspect. Governor Hoffman said he had seen pictures of the man and that he resembled Hauptmann no more than a round peg than a square hole. He said he had seen pictures of the man and that he resembled Hauptmann no more than a round peg than a square hole.

Wilentz conferred secretly at Perth Amboy with Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck, Jr., of Hunterdon county, and Hauptmann's chief counsel, C. Lloyd Fisher.

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 27.—(AP)—The ladder allegedly used by Bruno Richard Hauptmann in the Lindbergh kidnapping held the center of the stage today in efforts to prove the crime has not been completely solved.

From an authoritative source it was learned that investigators have asserted "proof" that the evidence linking the ladder to the kidnapping was "framed," and that a report of this will be made shortly to Gov. Harold G. Hoffman.

The same source said the investigators, claimed they were able to show through violent ray tests, that four nail holes in joists in Hauptmann's Bronx attic—holes which the state contended matched four holes in "rail 16" of the ladder—were made about the time of Hauptmann's arrest.

The governor himself continued his attack on the testimony of Millard Whitely, Southerland lumberjack, one of the chief identifiers of the ladder, by questioning Saturday by the governor, Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck, Jr., of Hunterdon county, and Hauptmann's chief counsel, C. Lloyd Fisher.

In New York last night the governor made public excerpts from Whitely's examination, which he submitted as "proof" that Whitely was promised part of the $25,000 offered by the state if he identified Hauptmann, and that he was shown a number of photographs upon different occasions before he went to New York.

Whitely was the sole identification witness in the Bronx extradition proceedings, and testified at the trial he saw Hauptmann prowling in the woods near the Lindbergh estate shortly before March 1, 1932, the date Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's son was kidnapped.

completely, but there were hints of sentiment in the war department for further discipline, permanently, by sending him to retire permanently.

Breaking its usual rule of silence, the war department made public a letter from General Craig, chief of staff, to Secretary Dern, declaring Hagood's record was "marked by repeated examples of lack of self-control, irresponsible and intemperate statements."

"General Hagood is an officer of high professional and technical attainment, of brilliant intellect and great energy," Craig reported. "But he apparently feels that those of the staff who are not in agreement with him in a manner that would bring condign consequences on others."

"His remarks before the subcommittee were only characterized as flippant in tone and entirely uncalled for and designed to bring ridicule and contempt upon civil agencies of the government."

A resolution introduced by Senator Metcalf (R-R), calling for an inquiry into the Hagood incident is expected to be discussed in the senate military committee tomorrow.

Health officers at Dallas said there was no reason for alarm, although around 3,000 pupils were absent from school and many cases of colds, mumps, measles, scarlet fever and influenza were reported.

Physicians at Fort Worth, Houston, Galveston and the Longview area of East Texas reported epidemics in those sections were under control.

German measles and mumps were prevalent in Tyler more than 400 school children unable to attend classes.

POWER STRIKE

department of labor in Washington for mediation.

M. C. Smith, president of the company, said efforts to renew service were balked by the fact that steam engine boilers have been drained and small parts of the generating machinery had been removed or destroyed.

Peaceful picketing to prevent non-union workers from opening the plants was started immediately.

N. P. Clay, president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers said the walkout was the direct result of failure of the company to keep faith with the union on an agreement reached a year ago tomorrow which ended the last power strike here.

His charge that the company has dismissed workers for union activities was denied by Smith. Clay said all of the 100 union workers had quit. Smith also denied that the workers were on strike.

The immediate effects of the shutdown was felt first in hospitals. Nurses at the Providence and Masonic hospitals said two union men had inquired, after the power was off, if they had emergency funds or any patient critically ill.

A baby girl was delivered by candle-light at Providence hospital at 5:15 a. m.

At William Beaumont hospital, where Albert Kapinsky, a patient of the interior is critically ill, Major Thomas Hurley said the shutdown came without preliminary warning.

In all of the half dozen hospitals, nurses made their rounds through the early morning hours administering to patients by candle light or flashlight. Gas lights were used in the halls of the Masonic hospital.

Chief of Police L. T. Robey ordered all available officers on duty and two New Mexico state police ordered from the capital at Santa Fe, went on duty at the Rio Grande plant in that state.

Clay said pickets were warned to conduct the strike peacefully in the face of feverish efforts by the company to restore service within the hour.

The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers last year under the impression they would get some kind of an agreement.

"The company continued to discriminate against members of every form, and discharged them for union activities."

"The company seems to be able to block every effort we have to get our case before the labor board. We felt it was our duty and privilege to try to get a fair adjustment before our organization was destroyed."

Conciliator Gets Orders.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Secretary Perkins today ordered Joseph S. Myers, a labor department conciliator, to El Paso, Texas, immediately to try to stop a power plant in that state.

Myers is to fly to El Paso from Austin, and is scheduled to arrive at the border city tonight.

Miss Perkins attempted to get in touch with those involved in the strike by long-distance telephone to try to arrange a settlement herself before tonight.

Nichols Going to El Paso.

AUSTIN, Feb. 27.—(AP)—El Paso, state labor commissioner, said today he would leave for El Paso by airplane to investigate a strike of electrical workers.

Nichols said he would be accompanied by Joseph S. Myers, United States conciliator.

Nichols advised Arthur Horn, state deputy at El Paso, to watch developments pending his arrival.

1935 by Premier Mussolini and Pierre Laval, then French foreign minister, were a joint declaration to preserve Austrian independence, plans for a five or six power pact of non-interference agreements for colonial concessions between the two nations in Africa, and a consubstantive pact between the two nations.

At the same time, the dramatic developments in Italy were seen by informed sources as possibly liable to interfere with Italian-German negotiations leading toward a pact between the fascist kingdom and the Nazi Reich.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR ANOTHER BIG BRUISING ELEVEN

TORRID RACE FOR DISTRICT CHAMPIONSHIP IS SEEN FOR FALL OF 1936

By PAUL MOORE, Sun Sports Editor.

Winter or spring football practice sessions for the 1936 prospects of Corsicana High School Tigers will be inaugurated by Coach John A. Pierce next week.

A much heavier and larger squad from which to select the boys to attempt to return the first honors in the Central Texas football race back to Corsicana will be available, and a big, bruising bunch of stalwarts loom as the representatives of Corsicana this year. This will be the first time since the state championship eleven of 1932 that Coach Pierce will have a bruising, hard-hitting and vicious forward wall. During the past three seasons, the fighting forwards were as good as dead in the country, but there were not enough pounds.

The opening of the spring training will be made Tuesday, March 3, when all of the boys who have not previously been out for football will be called. The following Monday, March 9, the boys coming over from Junior High, Central Texas league champions, will report to the Senior High mentors and the following Monday, March 16, the veterans from the 1935 squad and the members of the 1936 reserves will report for uniforms. The mentors have not definitely decided how long the training will be conducted, but it is expected that several weeks will be spent with the entire squad.

Temple Champion.

Temple High School Wildcats won the district championship last fall and dropped their bi-district affair with the Mexia Black Cats. Previously to last fall, Corsicana had annexed the district pennant five years in a row. Corsicana finished in second place in 1935, losing only to Temple, the district winner. Only three games were lost during 1935 and those were to Temple, Dallas Tech and Tyler. Each three teams won their respective district places in the competition of the University of Texas interscholastic league.

Spring training for the Cleburne Yellow Jackets has been in progress for several weeks. Coach Wesley Bradshaw and his assistants have spent much time with the Johnson county lads.

Temple started training Monday of this week. Coach G. W. Forehand is back again at the helm of the Bell countians and is changing the style of offense this season. He plans to give his defending champions a new shift and style and is spending a couple of weeks in that work.

Indian Lightweights.

Waxahatche Indians, the lightweight club of the district, is training under the direction of Coach Tommie C. Younger. His club is reported averaging only 134 pounds and if this is true, the football prospects for the Ellis capital are far from bright.

Coach Jones of the Bryan Bronces plans to inaugurate training within a short time, but is expected to wait until the basketball season is concluded. Coach Bill Carmichael's eagles won the district race. Carmichael is assistant football coach and practically all members of the basketball aggregation are counted on for much of the strength of the Bronco gridiron affair. The 1935 season was the first Bryan competed in this district and the club did not score a point in conference competition, although it held Corsicana to a scoreless tie in the opening district clash. A much better club is expected to represent the Brazos county club.

Temple and Cleburne have a number of veterans back from last year's club. Temple will have seven of the eleven starters of last year's team back and should the Wildcats develop some capable reserves, the Cats again may be potent.

Waco Tough As Usual.

Little has been heard from the Waco Bengals. Waco always has a strong aggregation and regardless of whether there are any veterans returning, Waco also won the district championship in basketball and athletic interest in the McLennan county capital at the present time is centered on the painted court. Waco will compete in the regional cage tournament in Denton this week-end.

The schedules of the various clubs within this district have been completed with a few exceptions for non-conference matches, but the coaches have not announced their cards for the fall. Various members of the district have games arranged with leading eleven from other sections of the country. Cleburne annually plays Fort Worth clubs; Waco meets both Fort Worth and Dallas eleven; Corsicana opposes East Texas combination while Temple generally meets one or more San Antonio contingent and the Austin High squad in non-conference classics.

Hillsboro, last but not least, will have another good club with a number of veterans back, headed by that sensational wingman, E. L. Keaton. Hillsboro will have a good club on its way as Holly McMore is head mentor there. He always puts out a fighting club that is a distinct credit to the coach and the community. Hillsboro is always a "dark horse" and may crowd into the picture as one of the big four clubs or make it the big five. Any club that drubs Hillsboro knows it has been in a football battle, regardless of where the game is played.

"What do you think of a bank that will hold state taxes and state funds when they know that the inmates of the asylum at Milledgeville, the blind, the deaf and dumb, the state convicts and other dependent for food and clothing on the state, are needing the money to provide these necessities of life?"

It shows how determined and desperate the new deal is and how the citizens of Georgia over whom they are cracking the whips.

"Watch and get the names of the papers whose big editors are on the payroll of the new deal."

"This invasion of state's rights can hold me in Georgia; but the new deal is going to be defeated this year."

Meanwhile, the government and its agents were confronted with the problem of what to do for money to operate the state. Following the refusal of most banks to honor state warrants until the courts decide the legality of the state's revenue was tied up in one way or another presumably until there is a court ruling on the legality of the governor's "dictatorship" and none of the courts have been asked to yet to rule on the matter.

Institutions and departments were running without ready cash, but there was no way of knowing how long this status could last.

While Attorney General M. J. Yeomans, the governor's legal adviser, has been asked to advise the legislature to appropriate state funds—the cause underlying the present impasse—the governor has refused to make that declaration that "There ain't gonna be no extra session."

Banks declined to cash state checks until there is a ruling on the status of the de facto officers with whom Talmadge replaced State Treasurer George B. Hamilton and Comptroller General William B. Harrison when they declined to "go along" with his program.

The post office held up mail addressed to the ousted officials.

THREE KILLED WHEN SNOWSLIDE WRECKED CAMP BIRD MINE

OURAY, Colo., Feb. 25.—(AP)—

Historic Camp Bird gold mine, where the late Thomas Walsh "struck it rich" in 1896, was a shambles today, caught in the crush of the Colorado Rockies' second death-bearing snow avalanche in eight days.

A snow-slide three miles wide shot down "Chicago Slide" and crashed through the camp yesterday, killing three persons and injuring at least four.

On Feb. 16 the Hesperus gold mine, 50 miles south of here, was struck by an avalanche that killed six.

Breaking loose from the craggy peaks rimming a canyon above here, the Camp Bird slide swept through the lower floor of a two-story bunkhouse, demolishing $100,000 mill and a snow-tunnel connecting buildings of the camp and piled up a half-mile farther down the mountain.

A second slide narrowly missed the camp, then joined the first avalanche to pile tons of snow, battered timber and other debris against the mine entrance, temporarily trapping 25 miners on the lower level. They freed themselves.

Mrs. Rose Israel, the camp cook, was killed when, hearing the slide "crack loose" a half mile above camp, she stepped on a porch to watch the down-rushing snow. She was enveloped in the mass and her body was carried 40 feet down the mountain where it was recovered later.

The other victims were Chapp E. Wood, mill foreman, and Ralph Klinger, blacksmith. Their bodies have not been recovered.

pending word from Washington. This cut off the flow of tax remittances.

And the inner money vault in the state treasurer's office, which Hamilton locked when he was put out Monday, was still closed.

With acetylene torches, locksmiths cut through the steel plates of the outer doors to get at records yesterday, but the inner records were untouched. Whether it contained any cash only Hamilton knew and he wouldn't say.

Two Killed And Three Injured In Auto-Truck Crash

VERNON, Feb. 25.—(AP)—

Two persons were killed and three injured last night in a collision between a sedan and a truck where State Highway No. 5 crosses the Pease river. Both vehicles were demolished.

Miss Bernyce Thrash, 22, Vernon, and Gerald Hennessy, 20, Tillman county, Oklahoma, were fatally hurt. Vivian Thrash, the victim's sister, was bruised and cut and her companion, Floyd Spraggins, 24, Davidson, Okla., similarly injured. Herman Rice, truck driver, was hurt slightly.

The four young people were returning to Vernon, and the truck driver was going to his home in Chillicothe.

Funeral services for Hennessy have been tentatively set for this afternoon at Frederick, Okla. Miss Thrash is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Thrash, a brother and five sisters.

MAIL FRAUD

Both men live in Dallas. Roe's home is in Tulsa. Oester's home is in Dallas.

Ted Monroe, attorney for the convicted men, said their cases would be appealed immediately.

Harry A. Wiberg, H. E. Robinson and E. C. McConnell, all of Dallas, and Wayne Heffner, Phoenix, Ariz., were acquitted.

The government has no charges against McConnell and Robinson, but Heffner is named with Dorsey, Pick and Roe in the El Oro Mines fraud case which probably will be brought up late today or tomorrow.

The trial had been under way for a week. Most testimony introduced by the government in an endeavor to show the mails had been used to defraud in connection with the Arizona investment company, the Stand Investment Co., was taken immediately to the jury.

McConnell and Robinson burst into tears when the verdict was read. The three convicted men were taken immediately to the jail to await sentencing by Judge Atwell.

J. A. Anderson of Kerens was in Corsicana Wednesday. Ben Adkins of Purdon was in Corsicana Wednesday.

DELAWARE SENATOR DECLARES ACTION ACT OF TERRORISM

ROBINSON ANSWERS ATTACK ON ADMINISTRATION IN STORMY MANNER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—(P)—A charge that Major General Frank C. Bolles, commander of the Seventh Corps Area at Omaha, Neb., was "actively engaging" in politics developed today in senate debate on the suspension from duty of Major General Hagood as eighth corps area commander.

Senator Hastings (R-Del.) had turned the action in relieving Hagood of his command an "illustration of terrorism in government" when Senator Robinson, the "democratic leader," hurled the charge about Bolles. He coupled it with an attack on the administration in sending Brig. General Mitchell former air corps chief, "to his grave without the restitution due him."

Robinson literally stormed out of his words in heated reply to Hastings. He asserted that Hagood "violated" the code of conduct in taking part in politics by criticizing the administrative agency.

"And there is at least one more corps commander," Robinson shouted, "who is actively engaged in politics, who has a candidate for his own for the presidency and boasts he is making efforts in his behalf."

"Is he a new dealer," interrupted Hastings.

"No," snapped Robinson, "he is an old dealer like you."

He gave General Bolles' name in response to a direct question from Hastings, but did not name the candidate he was assertedly supporting.

Turning to the Mitchell case, Robinson declared Hastings had held up action for a year on a bill the majority leader had introduced to "remove the stain" from the record of General Mitchell, who was court-martialed for his outstanding conduct of army leaders he held responsible for lack of air corps development.

Hagood, it was already has threatened to become a political issue, was ordered home to "await orders" shortly after telling a house subcommittee that Works Progress administration funds were "stage money."

Hastings, chairman of the republican senatorial campaign committee, declared:

"Here is an effort on the part of the commander-in-chief of the army and navy to see to it that nothing reflects on his administration, not of the army and navy, but of the general affairs of his administration."

The Delaware senator referred to a recent supreme court decision as being "very helpful as far as freedom of the press is concerned," and added:

"What we need is freedom of speech as well. So far as I know the thing that makes the senate more attractive than anything else is that by our rules we are permitted to speak our piece when we care to."

Dictatorship Not So Unlikely.

He said reports that the President is endeavoring to "create a dictatorship" were "not as unlikely as many people believe."

IMPROVEMENTS OF PERMANENT NATURE PUSHED IN COUNTY

EXTENSION OF TIME NEEDED TO INSURE COMPLETION OF ALL PROJECTS

By PAUL MOORE.

Improvements of a permanent nature and needed repairs to the city lake dam and the roads of Navarro county are seen in a survey and inspection trip to the WPA projects now in progress.

The work being done at Lake Halbert, Corsicana city reservoir, affects approximately 20,000 people directly, one-third of the population of the county. The dam at the lake was in a dangerous condition, according to competent engineers and officials. The middle of the dam was about seven feet lower than it was intended and the main dam was narrow and an unusual rainy season could have easily broken it.

The reservoir dam is being repaired and the stone will replace concrete in breaking down of the dam. The expense of continuing repairs. The dam is being raised to the proper height through the project now in progress in addition to the work being done on the lake.

A road is being constructed on the southern side of the lake and dams to catch silt from the watershed. The project is being completed by the end of the year. The northern side of the lake has been beautified with the making of McLendon Park and other improvements.

Road Construction.

Second in importance to Corsicana and the No. 1 project as far as citizens of the rural sections are concerned, is the system of improved roads now under construction in all sections with the exception of the extreme southwestern part of the county.

Oil and chat roads and gravelled affairs are on the program. Much widening of the county roads is being done. The county is straightening of curves and other preliminary work has been done. Approximately three-quarters of a mile of gravel has been laid on the 12-mile road extending from Kerens to intersect Highway 22 south, while the grading and other work has progressed to a point near Round Prairie. A gravel road from Kerens to the city lake is practically completed and plans call for a similar road in a northerly direction into the Bazzelle area.

Moving back of fences and clearing of right of way is in progress on the extension of the East Fifth avenue road east of Chambers creek. It is planned to gravel the road from Chambers to the intersection of Highway 22 between Corsicana and Rice and the road from Roane to Powell is slated for improvement.

About one-third of a mile of the road from Emhouse toward Civer Creek to the Gunnigham farms has been gravelled with the road work has been finished into Emhouse.

Work of clearing the right of way of the road from the northern extremity of the Black Hills lateral road to Emhouse has been started.

One Road Finished.

The road from Civer Creek to Drane has been finished with the exception of the oil treatment. Work is in progress from Drane in a westerly direction to extend to Emhouse the right of way being grubbed preparatory to the grading work.

Crews are clearing the right of way on the 18-mile road extending from Ellis county to Dawson via Freeland and Brandy Prairie.

Much of the work from Corbett to Highway 31 has been completed, while considerable preparatory work has been done on roads in the vicinity of Navarro and Cheneyboro.

Improvements are slated in the Oak Valley and Hamilton cemetery areas.

The most striking thing to the casual observer on the road proposition is the lasting benefits derived, even should the all-weather type of surface not be made, as the county roads have been widened to 60 feet, insuring cheaper maintenance and grading. Many of the county roads were only slightly over 20 feet wide with a majority being only 30 or 35 feet wide. These narrow roads have been problems facing the county commissioners for years, as the maintenance cost was high due to the ditches close to the road bed and the tendency to eat into the roadbed. Under the new set-up, wide roadbeds are being built and the ditches are being back-sloped.

OKLAHOMA FARM GIRL ACQUITTED FATHER'S MURDER

EMMA WILLIS HELD NOT GUILTY BY REASON OF INSANITY BY JURY

ANADARKO, Okla., Feb. 26.—(P)—Emma Willis, 18-year-old farm girl, was acquitted today of murder charges in the shotgun slaying of her share-cropper father.

The jury held the girl "not guilty by reason of insanity."

Attorneys said the verdict means Miss Willis must be committed to an institution for treatment.

ANADARKO, Okla., Feb. 26.—(P)—An elaborate defense of temporary insanity in the homicide trial of Emma Willis, 18-year-old farm girl, was sidetracked today by her defense counsel with a dramatic plea that the girl was "justified" in the shotgun slaying of her share-cropper father.

As the murder trial approached the jury stage, W. H. Cooper, the girl's attorney, climaxed his recital of alleged indignities on the part of her father by shouting to the jury:

"I know what you would say if your daughter told you someone had made advances like those Willis made to his daughter, Emma. You'd grab a shotgun and say, 'Kill the rascal and so would I. That's the way every man should feel."

Haskell Pugh, assistant county attorney, had demanded in his argument that the jury of farmers and businessmen give the girl "the limit."

But Cooper, terming the slain father, Iddie H. Willis, "a brute with a blackened, depraved and degenerate nature," pleaded first for acquittal on the grounds of temporary insanity and then, tears trickling down his cheeks, the attorney shouted that the slaying was "justified."

The defendant and her careworn mother, Mrs. Zona Willis, had testified the girl's father beat her "just like the stock," and made improper advances.

Willis was shot to death last December as he lay on his bed in the three-room farm house occupied by the family near Emhouse. The girl told officers she fired the shot.

Before the final arguments began, Judge Will Linn denied a defense motion for a directed verdict of acquittal on the ground that only by "inference" had any testimony been introduced to prove the girl committed the crime.

CONFEREES QUICKLY
AGREE ON NEW FARM
CROP CONTROL BILL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(P)—A quick agreement that smoothed out differences between senate and house sent the administration's soil conservation-farm subsidy bill on the last lap of its journey to the statute books today.

The house moved today to place its final "OK" on the bill designed as a substitute for the dead end similar action in the senate will send the measure to the White House.

Already Secretary Wallace and AAA Administrator Chester C. Davis were preparing to start the program. Farmers are expected to be called to regional meetings next week to discuss roads will intersect with all the main arteries of traffic in all sections. If the extension is granted and the roads now on the program are completed, Navarro county will have a fine system of roads.

Much work has been done in the clearing of underbrush along the channel of Chambers creek in various levee improvement districts. This is calculated to allow the water in time of overflow to flow uninterrupted and alleviate the danger of levee break and inundation. A wide path is being cleared between the levees. This will be of a permanent nature only if the underbrush is kept clean and the levees are kept in good shape. There is a possibility in a short time cause a dense underbrush.

Highway 22.

County officials are still doing all in their power to get Highway 22 completed both east and west. The fact that there has been no provision for a bridge spanning Chambers Creek on this highway makes the completion of the road some time off. There is a possibility that the contract will be let for the paving of the road in both directions during this year.

Whether a temporary crossing is a possibility is not known. When and if the lateral road from Kerens to the highway is completed, traffic into Cayuga and other centers would have a route into Corsicana by using Highway 31 from Kerens in this direction, during good weather. The low route planned in Trinity river bottoms will necessitate using other roads during high water.

Dawson and Richland have street improvement projects underway. Richland is paving the streets there with crushed rock while Dawson is laying the streets in that section and plans to give an oil and clay top treatment later.

A new gymnasium and school building is to be constructed in Purdon during the spring and addition is to be made to the Streetman school building.

Numerous other projects, including sanitary improvements, have been made in various sections of Navarro county.

The projects to give employment to relief labor in Navarro county have resulted in many permanent improvements being made and all of the governmental expenditures on the relief affairs in Navarro county have not been temporary by any means.

PRESIDENT VETOES SEED LOAN BILL IN MESSAGE TO SENATE

WILL ISSUE EXECUTIVE ORDER, HE SAYS, TO MEET ANY NEED FOR LOANS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(P)—President Roosevelt's veto of his bill authorizing $50,000,000 for 1936 seed and feed loans to farmers was challenged today by Senator Smith (D-SC) who said he would "insist on a vote" to override "as soon as the time is propitious."

Smith, chairman of the senate agriculture committee and senate sponsor of the administration's AAA replacement bill agreed upon in conference yesterday, made the statement to reporters shortly after the executive's veto was read in the senate.

The President took the position that sufficient funds for lending to distressed farmers were available under the work relief act, that the farmers not in such dire straits should seek loans on normal channels, and that congress went outside budget estimates and took no steps to raise the money through additional taxes.

The measure was returned to the President that in approving the $40,000,000 seed and feed loan bill in 1934, "I did so on the theory that it was proper to taper off the crop loan system, which had been initiated on a large scale as early as 1931."

The President added, however, that he would issue an executive order in the next few days to which I have referred, which would provide for the production of new crops.

"I am convinced," Mr. Roosevelt said in his veto message, "that the immediate and actual needs which I have referred to can be met during the year 1936 by an expenditure of funds materially less than that proposed in the bill under discussion."

Furthermore, these needs can be met without the necessity of enacting authorizing legislation, through an allocation of funds by me from the appropriation provided in the emergency relief appropriation act of 1935.

"I am informally advised by the comptroller general of the United States, can be utilized for such loans as I might indicate by executive order to be desirable and necessary as relief measures."

(The vetoed measure would have authorized seed and feed loans up to $500 per farmer on 1936 crops, the government making a first lien on the output.)

subsidy rates.

Senate and house had passed the bill in somewhat different form, but conferees from the two chambers required only one session to iron out differences. The result, made public last night, leaned largely toward the original house version.

(Briefly, the "soil conservation and domestic allotment act" provides for subsidies to farmers, not exceeding $500,000 a year, for taking and out of commercial crops and devoting it to soil-building or other "economic" purposes. The secretary of agriculture thus is given wide powers to control production.)

(Before Dec. 31, 1937, the government is to make such loans to farmers, or indirectly through co-operating states. After that date, payments would be made only in co-operating states. The grants would then be given, not only for soil conservation, but on the basis of stabilization of agricultural supplies and maintenance of farm purchasing power.)

The conferees' session resulted in:

1—Acceptance of a house provision requiring the government to re-establish as fast as possible the pre-war parity between a purchasing power of farm and non-farm net income without discouraging below normal domestic consumption for 1920-29.

2—Acceptance with modification of the house amendment to permit tenants and share croppers to participate in benefits.

3—Approval of a clause saying the government, in making allotments, shall consider dairy lands along with other farm lands. Senator Smith (D-SC) said this was to allay fears dairy cattlemen would not benefit.

4—Acceptance of house amendments directing the government to "protect the interests of small producers."

5—Acceptance of a house amendment to make $2,000,000 available from treasury relief funds for wind erosion control.

TEXAS ALLOWABLE EXCEEDS FEDERAL ESTIMATE IN MARCH

AUSTIN, Feb. 25.—(P)— The railroad commission today increased allowable oil production from Texas fields to 1,110,480 barrels, effective March 1. It was 6,480 barrels above the federal estimate of market demand and 43,488 barrels more than the Feb. 1 allowable.

East Texas production was continued at 2.85 per cent of the average hourly production estimated to permit a flow of 439,942 barrels on March 1, compared with 432,264 barrels on Feb. 1, and 435,038 barrels on Feb. 17.

Virtually every request for increased allowable filed at the state wide prorating hearing was granted by the commission.

The state allowable for next month represented a net increase of approximately 12,480 barrels from permitted production on Feb. 17. Numerous revisions and changes and normal increases because of the 15th day of the month would be during February.

Allowables by districts and the changes were, in barrels:

Rodessa, 500, same; Panhandle, 58,400, same; Moore county, 1,500, same; Osborne area, 1,000, same; North Texas, 58,500, same; Fort Worth, 500, same; West Central, 50,615, decrease 376; West Texas, 147,955, increase 13,657; East Texas, 50,225, increase 1,018; Southwest Texas, 132,159, increase 15,830; and Gulf Coast 168,774, increase 5,691.

Conroe was granted an increase of 2,000 barrels, boosting its allowable to 44,025 barrels. Other increases in the Gulf Coast area included, in barrels:

Anahuac, 1,700 to 5,000; Barber's Hill, 1,200 to 2,200; Hastings 300 to 5,200; Livingston 434 to 3,100; Pierce Junction 459 to 3,279, and South Houston 400 to 1,153, with the top per well raised to 150 barrels.

ERECTION OF BUFFALO BILL'S STATUE ON TEXAS CENTENNIAL GROUNDS PROTESTED BY U. D. C.

DALLAS, Feb. 25.—(P)—Indignant members of the United Daughters of the Confederacy will meet Friday to protest erection of the statue of Buffalo Bill on the grounds of the Texas Centennial Exposition here.

"Buffalo Bill is all right in his place," said Mrs. J. C. Turner, president of Bonnie Blue Flag chapter, "but his place is not in a featured place of the exposition, the primary purpose of which is to celebrate the 100th anniversary of our state and pay tribute to its history and the heroes who made it. Instead of these heroes, we would be commemorating a union spy."

The announcement by Dr. Robert Harshe of Chicago, Centennial

The Panhandle sour gas allowable was boosted 56,825,400 cubic feet daily to 435,518,400 cubic feet. The new sweet gas allowable for areas outside the Panhandle were virtually unchanged from February. By districts, they were: Southwest Texas, 238,704,000 cubic feet; East Central Texas, 3,000,000 cubic feet; East Texas, 57,240,000 cubic feet; West and North Texas, 76,162,000 cubic feet.

The March sour gas allowable for districts outside the Panhandle was 8,858,000 cubic feet, compared with 9,895,000 cubic feet in February.

AUSTIN, Feb. 25.—(P)—The railroad commission today granted the Texas Panhandle an increase of 240,000 cubic feet daily in its sweet gas allowable for March.

Allowable production of sweet gas for the East and West Panhandle zones, respectively was set at 179,853,000 and 669,000,000 cubic feet daily, compared with 119,045-

"Until after the Friday meeting of the two local U. D. C. chapters, I do not want to make a definite statement concerning any contemplated action on the part of the organization, nor do I wish to be quoted regarding the reaction of the individual members toward the selection of the statue by Dr. Harshe."

The commission said it "did not mean and did not intend from the evidence that the closer wells are drilled the greater will be the ultimate recovery of oil and gas from any given pool, but by such language only meant and found from the evidence that the closer wells are drilled the greater will be the ultimate recovery of oil and gas from any given pool."

It did not then or now intend, the commission explained, "to abrogate or abandon any of the spacing rules now in effect and gas fields, nor to militate against the fact basis on which the commission's spacing rules are based."

Oil circles previously had heard a fresh attack on the spacing rule would be hinged to a certain extent, upon the commission's earlier statement.

Its Aug. 26 order contained the statement: "We find from the evidence the more wells that are

THE STORE WITH THE GREEN FRONT

To All Local Wholesalers, Jobbers, Commission Representatives, Retail Dealers and Merchants

IMPORTANT

You all have an interest in advertising, because many of the products you handle are advertised.

Probably at the time you bought these products, the manufacturer took pains to tell you about the advertising he was doing—or was going to do—to help you sell them.

So far, so good. Anything that helps you build up sales is worth consideration. But the next time a manufacturer asks you to stock a certain product because it is advertised—ask him what kind of advertising he is using.

You know that the biggest support a manufacturer can give you is newspaper advertising that reaches practically all your customers in your own market. Anything less than this means the manufacturer is "passing the buck" to you. He is hiding behind a thinly spread campaign, and letting you do the job of local selling by yourself. If this is the case, send or show the following facts to the manufacturer, and ask him what's what? Doesn't he consider your market worth developing? Does he expect you to sell his goods if he doesn't believe enough in his product to tell your customers about it?

Every year manufacturers make their budgets for advertising their products where they have distribution in order to create and keep created local consumption.

If their co-operative advertising campaign is closely woven into the local dealers plans and cover the local dealers trade territory properly it means business for both.

In placing their products for distribution among local dealers the ambitious salesmen make many promises of advertising co-operation as an inducement to get their products sold. Some of these promises are carried out, with the majority not carried out.

The manufacturers' salesmen, when calling on the local dealers, display an elaborate illuminated advertising campaign with lots of data, bound nicely in attractive covers, showing what they claim is a so-called "national campaign." In checking over such a proposed advertising campaign the local dealer will find that it does not touch his trade territory, nor will it give him any local sales assistance. Nine out of ten such broad claims of assistance is nothing more than a "straw man" in the advertising field.

Speak up and express dissatisfaction when traveling men present such elaborate portfolios to show what they claim they will do in the way of advertising co-operation by running all of their advertising in so-called national magazines, radio and hard-to-find bill boards.

Be suspicious of the salesman who holds out as "bait" for an order, a hazy and indefinite promise of some local advertising. Ask him just exactly what he means by "local help," and have him include such promises of local advertising help on the sale slip with the order you give him so that a correct and recognized record will be kept. When vaguely defined by salesman as "local advertising assistance" he might have in mind billboards somewhere in the country that are hard to find and hard to read due to fast moving cars, or radio broadcasts which may or may not be heard in your home locality. In many cases such help is just "talk" with no backing whatever from the head of the firm.

There are many manufacturers who gladly give full local co-operative advertising assistance to the local dealer in creating and maintaining sales of their products, such co-operation being paid for by them out of their national advertising appropriations, and not forced on the local dealer at the local dealers own expense.

In many cases there are manufacturers who try and impose the cost of their so-called advertising co-operation on the local dealers which is a great imposition if the local dealer falls for such a plan. There is no good reason why a local dealer should spend his own money in advertising any particular article carried in stock in competition with the many other brands of merchandise carried. What the local dealer wants to do with his own advertising money is to spend it in advertising his whole store and all of its products, and in his own way, and in his own trade territory where he will get definite local results. The manufacturer who is considerate and recognizes what the local dealers mean to them does not hesitate to give a liberal share of advertising appropriation for local coverage in advertising their products. Others place their advertising on a percentage of sales made, while others try and slip in the "back way" by giving what is termed advertising discounts on invoices made.

In such cases as these the local dealer will not get his pro rata share of the local advertising promised unless he is persistent in demanding what is coming to him. If he is not persistent in his claims along the line such advertising co-operation will be lost and the alert dealer somewhere else will get it.

Also, if the local dealer is not on the job in following through on many of the co-operative advertising promises made by the manufacturer he will find that there is always some outside dealer in an adjacent trade center who is waiting to get it.

If the local dealer does not take advantage of his own percentage of advertising co-operation he is entitled to, such sales will be claimed and reflected in adjacent markets that will get the benefit of this extra advertising.

Here are some facts to propound to the next salesman who calls on you. Go into the matter thoroughly with him and urge your claims and you will get them carried out. By doing so outside help to make sales will be given you, which linked with your own sales and advertising plans will mean more business.

Tell These Facts to Manufacturers Whose Goods You Sell

If your manufacturer doesn't know these facts, or if he's never thought of them, or if he's deliberately ignoring them, it's your duty to yourself and him to call this data to his attention. You're working with him—and he's working with you—to get more business. You give him the best support you can. Tell him that what you expect from him is a good product, a good profit margin, and good advertising.

Good advertising means more than a gesture; more than spreading pretty magazine colour pages over the map; it means getting down to work in your own market—digging for sales, with a proven medium of concentrated coverage. Good newspaper advertising is what the manufacturer owes to you in return for your effort to sell his goods. And if you haven't got what's coming to you—ask for it.

Remember These Advantages

Advertising in your local newspaper reaches your own customers. It reaches them surrounded by local news of daily vital interest. It is geared to your community.

It brings immediate results. People are used to acting upon what they read in the local newspaper. It is their daily guide to shopping news as well as to all other news of this community.

It tells where to buy. Manufacturers can list dealers' names and addresses in the advertising columns of the paper. It sends customers direct to your store.

Newspaper advertising reaches all your customers frequently—not just occasionally. It keeps them constantly reminded of the products that you sell. It never lets a prospect grow cold.

Your newspaper gives class, quality and quantity coverage of your markets, with the prestige of the paper behind it.

Important Information for the Advertiser

The Daily Sun has made a thorough house to house survey of Corsicana in which many interesting items were checked up on, among them being the number of outside newspapers coming into Corsicana and its suburbs. The survey shows that the number of outside daily papers coming into Corsicana from all outside sources is the small number of 1270, which is a very small percentage of the city's population.

Of this list of 1270 outside papers coming into Corsicana there is 100 per cent overlapping coverage of the same list by the Daily Sun. This survey included one morning and three afternoon papers of Dallas, 60 miles away; one morning paper of Fort Worth, 75 miles away; one morning paper of Waco, 65 miles away; and two papers of Houston, 200 miles away.

These facts show that the Daily Sun is taking care of its field in a most satisfactory manner, which gives the news from 12 to 24 hours earlier than any other source.

If It Pays

--- To look for and solicit business in a town, it would also pay to advertise for that business in the newspaper of that town.

The complete coverage of any market is possible only through the newspapers published in that market.

There is nothing indefinite about the coverage of your local markets by your home newspaper, which is read by thousands of paid subscribers every day.

Put Your Own Yardstick On Your Advertising

IMPORTANT

Yard Sticks on Advertising

Many people look upon advertising as something unknown and mysterious when in fact it is very simple and should always be handled in a business like manner.

Advertising is nothing more than the distribution of facts and news about what you have to sell to the public. The better influential medium of distribution of such news at the lowest cost is always to be considered first.

While there will be many side lines ready to encourage you to spend your money on different, and in many instances tried fruitless, so-called advertising schemes and ideas, it is very important that you keep clear of such offers.

Also, many alluring advertising plans will be promised by the manufacturers that you should not fall for until you use your own judgment and check up on whether or not such plans cover your trade territory.

When the salesman tells you of a great national radio hook-up, or magazine campaign or outdoor advertising, or direct by mail advertising, remind him of these facts which have been checked up on and verified by National Advertising Executives and Organizations.

Radios

A radio survey that is taken at regular intervals in the nation brings out these facts: That in every 100 homes there are 51 radio sets, with an average of 20 percent of this number being out of order and obsolete, and 10 out of the 51 families equipped with radios being away from home, thereby bringing the number down to 31 homes with radios ready for reception.

Of the 31 homes the survey shows that an average of only 24 radios are in action every twenty-four hours, with the dial turned on for several different stations which brings the average reception down for any one program.

The survey also shows that 47 per cent of the above radios tuned in is between 7 and 10 o'clock in the evening, with the rest of the twenty-four hours left for hit and miss programs that change at short intervals. The best radio programs also crowd out other programs, thereby spoiling the listening public to where they want the best or nothing, and the survey shows that out of the above radios tuned in there are only 13 radios receiving the programs from the best stations, with 5 listening in on the second best programs and 2 listening to the third best stations. The survey shows that of those listening in on the above number of radios that only 8 of the listeners are advertising conscious. It is advised that communities should beware of the so-called co-operative community radio programs, the promoters of which are more interested in getting your money than giving local advertising coverage in your trade territory.

Just because there is a radio in the home does not mean that it is tuned in on any particular advertisers program, and if it is tuned in, remember the above average reception it will get. Remember also, that no advertiser has the right of way, nor can they be assured of any definite radio coverage.

Magazines

The manufacturer's salesmen work the "so-called national advertising campaign" overtime trying to convince the local dealers that such an intensive national campaign as his firm will do covers the universe and will perform miracles, when in fact this is just another sales talk given the salesman that is inspired by the magazine publishers. The truth about the claims of the magazines is that they try to cover too much territory and make too many broad claims, and when checking up on the population of the nation and comparing it with the circulation of the magazine it will be found that it is insignificant, and scattered so that the subscribers are hard to locate, with very little coverage in your immediate trade territory.

To bring this fact right down to the local field the following circulations of seven of the most popular magazines coming into the Corsicana trade territory are as follows, with the average of other magazines coming here being much less:

Circulations of magazines coming to this trade territory are as follows: Literary Digest 342, McCall's Magazine 321, National Geographic Magazine 106, Pictorial Review 389, Saturday Evening Post 466, True Story 304, Woman's Home Companion 231.

IMPORTANT

By comparing these small circulations with the many thousands of paid subscribers to your local newspaper is ridiculous. It would be too costly to give you such co-operative national advertising in the above magazines that cover only a small percentage of the population, and then the magazines are weeklies and monthlies, with no direct advertising appeal that will help out the local situation that you are interested in.

A check-up will also show that newspaper advertising not only covers the local markets and overlaps the magazine coverage, but that it is accepted and preferred over all other first class advertising media.

Direct By Mail

So-called direct by mail help is almost prohibitive and experienced advertisers claim is a great waste of money, as such matter has no definite distribution, nor does it go to paid subscribers who want to read it. The distribution of such material is an unknown and indefinite problem, with the percentage of its value in the advertising field so low that it should not be considered. Remember, that printed matter, no matter what it might be or how good it looks, is not advertising until it is distributed, received and read.

Out-Door Advertising

A revised survey of the effect of outdoor advertising shows a decline of reader attention due to several new obstacles, mainly the speed of automobiles as they pass the boards, and public sentiment against bill boards on the highways, etc.

Then there is no change of copy, nor does copy make local reference to local dealers. Also weather conditions confine the public in and around the home.

Regardless of weather conditions the newspaper is delivered at the home every day, and is there for the whole family to read and enjoy—it is something new every day with a variety of important and interesting attractions that make the advertising space that much more valuable.

TEA POULTICES.

Probably our grandmothers knew about poultices of tea leaves for bad eyes. Now eye specialists recommend them and Miss Forbes suggests them for beauty.

The other day we were talking about treatments for strengthening the eyes when they are weak. In connection with these treatments I should like you to use a tea poultice. Incidentally, this same poultice is good for all cases of inflammation, puffiness, or for resting the eyes when they have been strained or when they are tired.

It is the simplest, most imaginable poultice to make. And it costs nothing at all, since undoubtedly you are some member of your family makes tea at least once a day. You simply pour off any tea that remains on the leaves, scoop out the wet leaves and lay them on a square of muslin big enough to cover both eyes. Fold in the edges of the muslin so the leaves will not fall out, push them into two bunches, so the rests over each eye, and lay this over the eyes.

This is astringent, therefore very good for puffiness or for crepe skin. Readers who have tried this also claim that it is good for crowsfeet. It is soothing, it is also stimulating. If you have had a tiring day at your work, or if your eyes are strained from a long drive, or if they have been irritated by dirt in them, this tea-leaf poultice is the very thing. If you want to go out in the evening looking fresh, lie back in a fairly warm bath to soak for ten minutes with circulation cream on your face and a tea-leaf poultice over your eyes. This will bring you out of your bath refreshed and looking many years younger.

Once a reader wrote and asked me what sort of tea leaves to use. It does not matter in the least, nor does it matter how long they have been standing in cold tea water. Even after hours of soaking they are still good and of great benefit to your eyes.

M. W.—If you are well, and have appetite for enough food, you will put on the needed weight. You will be able to build up your appetite if it is now at fault, by getting out into the fresh air and taking some exercise every day. As you are only 16 years of age, and still growing, your weight of 99 pounds should be 115 pounds, assuming you will be several inches taller than at present. If you took a whole cup of cream every day, it might upset your digestion, but there is a combination of milk, cream and water that some doctors suggest for people who need to put on extra pounds. A cup mixed together and taken as part of the entire day's meals. There are some persons who are able to take a pint of each, with one day of meals, but there are many who could not assimilate all that amount of cream. You should not force yourself or your digestion to take either a large amount of cream or milk, as any period of an upset digestion means loss of weight for the time being. If you do take cod liver oil, begin now, while the weather is cold, and discontinue it in the spring, or at any time that it appears to be taxing your digestion. When you have attained your normal height, you will find that you are well on the way in the matter of development. The girl who fills out early in her growth, usually does not become very tall. Any kind of exercise in which you use your legs will help build out the muscles, and added weight all over will help, too.

THREE SLEEPY COMPANIONS ON A MOUNTAIN OF WONDER *

They Nearly Missed a High Hour of Revelation, When the Long-Time Dead Reappeared—The Meaning of the Transfiguration of Jesus.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

Today needs yesterday for its interpretation. Perspective is essential to perception. It is the men of short views who see our times as hopeless. The wise, who can survey the long course of history, are reassured: what is now has been before and will be again.

Even Jesus, with eyes fixed on Calvary, looking grimly but a few months ahead, needed the comforting reassurance of two of His great predecessors, who had undergone experiences akin to His own. Therefore He was granted the mysterious hour on the Mount of Transfiguration, an hour of ecstasy to prepare for long ordeal.

Ecstasy never lasts. It has its place, and we may pity the man who knows no high moments of ecstasy ever come. God never meant that his children should spend all their days grubbing in material things with heads bent down and vision obscured. That is why He gives us love, and sunsets, the birds and flowers, and the spirit of adventure, and great loyalties, and spiritual rapture. The landscape of every life should include a Mount of Transfiguration.

Where Did It All Happen? There has never been agreement amongst scholars as to the exact mountain which was the scene of the Transfiguration. The Roman Catholic church has given her attestation to the beautifully rounded mountain, just below Nazareth, called Mt. Tabor. I have, of course, visited it. It is the highest and most sublime mountain in the Holy Land, which dominates the scene from every direction. Even from the depths of the Dead Sea valley I have caught a gorgeous view of the great covered mountain. Before the incident which is our Lesson, Jesus and His disciples had been at Caesarea Philippi, at the southern edge of Mt. Hermon. The loneliness and sublimity of Hermon's height seems a more natural setting for the story, especially since Mt. Tabor is supposed to have been covered by a village in the lifetime of the Lord.

Whether the mountain was the physical location of the unique event, we know that it was a place of solitude and seclusion, to which Jesus, accompanied by His three closest friends, retired for prayer. It all happened according to our author, "as He was praying," and it would be interesting to set down other significant consequences of the prayer times of Christ.

The Sleepy Three. Not all who are close to the great are themselves great. One recalls the small-minded secretaries who hamper public officials, preventing access to them of persons whom they most need to see. Until after His resurrection, the intimate friends of Jesus were unequal to their opportunities. They never did really understand Him fully until He had left them.

On the present occasion, the three closest of Christ's friends, chosen to go up the mountain with Him, were drowsy, even as they later were at Gethsemane. They seem to have missed the first stages of the marvelous experience, and the advent of Moses and Elijah. But when fully awake, they perceived that a strange radiance emanated from Master—a glowing glory that pervaded the very texture of His being, and made even His raiment dazzling white.

Any individual or any institution that could take the Bible to every home in this country would do more for the country than all the armies from the beginning of our history to the present time.—Chief Justice Brewer.

It must have been a tremendous errand that could bring these victorious ones, long centuries dead, back to earth again. And it was. For we know the theme of their conference; the redemption of death of Jesus, so soon to come to pass. There are "modern" and "intellectual" folk in our day who disparage the crucifixion of Jesus and its import. But the subject was not minimized in heaven. There, in supreme councils, it was deemed of so great significance that two of the highest heroes among the immortals were commissioned to return to earth to consult with Jesus concerning His fate. There might well be a huge cross erected on the Mount of Transfiguration to symbolize the deepest meaning of the experience.

Does Death End All? This majestic story is aglow with significances. In the light of the glory that enveloped Jesus and Moses and Elijah, and permeated their entire beings, we may find illumination of the dark mystery of death. Oldest and profoundest of the questions humanity has been asking itself throughout the ages is that which concerns the persistence of personality after death. "If a man die, shall he live again?"

Clear and unmistakable comes the answer from the Mount of Transfiguration. Moses and Elijah had lived long centuries before. Yet here they were, recognizable in their own glorified personalities, before the sleep-cleared eyes of the three disciples. Everybody who believes the Bible must accept this clear evidence that personality does persist in heaven. We shall know one another there.

FOURTH PETER proposed that they should build booths and remain on the Mount of Transfiguration; but Jesus knew, and His friends must learn, that life's real work lies on the plains below, where the demon-possessed, the sick and the needy await. Vision is given only that it may be translated into service.

SEVEN SENTENCE SERMONS. Our present trouble is wholly due to the neglect of the law of God.—The Christian.

Walk is greater than talk, and it is much more easy to talk about our walk than walk our talk.—Dan Crawford.

Guide me, O Thou great Jehovah, Pilgrim through this barren land; I am weak, but Thou art mighty, Hold me by Thy powerful hand.—W. Williams.

A bad custom is like a good cake, better broken than kept.—English Proverb.

According to your faith be it unto you.—Matt. 9:23.

I remember, I remember The trees that look so high; I used to think their slender tops Were close against the sky; It was a childish ignorance, But now 'tis little joy To know how I'm farther off from heaven Than when I was a boy.—Thomas Hood.

Any individual or any institution that could take the Bible to every home in this country would do more for the country than all the armies from the beginning of our history to the present time.—Chief Justice Brewer.

Lynn Adams of Wortham was reported to be resting nicely Thursday at the Navarro clinic, following treatment there for a gunshot wound accidentally received earlier in the week.

ALABAMA WOMAN IS FORCIBLY EJECTED COMMITTEE ROOM

GRAY-HAIRED MISS DAVIS
TAKEN BY POLICEMEN TO GUARD ROOM IN CAPITOL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—(P)—Miss Susan Lawrence Davis, a gray-haired woman of about 65 from Athens, Ala., was forcibly ejected by Capitol police today from a hearing of the house paternity committee on revision of the copyright law.

She was hustled to a guard room in the new house office building and later released. Rep. Carmichael (D-Ala.) who said the woman was a friend of his and claimed to be related to Jefferson Davis, president of the confederacy, said she sought to testify about infringement of copyright on a history of the Ku Klux Klan she had written.

After guards had prevented her from moving up to the front of the caucus room where the hearing was being held, Miss Davis was taken to Carmichael's office and obtained a letter requesting that she be allowed to appear before the committee.

But when she returned and somewhat noisily demanded to be allowed to testify, the committee aide instructed police to remove her. Sergeant Frank Gann and Lamar Saxon, a plain-clothes man, shoved her through the door and offered to let her leave. When she protested stormily, they seized her by the arms and took her to the guard room.

Carmichael said he had a bill pending before the District of Columbia committee to pay Miss Davis $50,000 damages for being held in Gallinger Hospital here several years ago for mental observation.

Her removal took place as Gene Buck was renewing charges that broad powers should be given the American Society of Composers, Authors and Producers, of which he is president, through the Duffy copyright bill passed last session by the senate.

"Why did Warner Brothers (movie producers) break with your corporation?" asked Rep. Deen (D-Ga.).

"Greed," Buck replied. "Greed," Deen repeated. "Just plain greed," Buck shouted. "G-r-e-e-d."

Nathan Burken ASCAP counsel, clashed with Deen over the latter's reference to the society as an organized minority.

"The greatest threat in this country," the Georgian asserted, "is an organized minority."

Byrd is expected to begin the study in the near future.

Money Is Taken From Pocketbook

County officers are seeking some trace of the whereabouts of several "Gypsies" in connection with the victimizing of an 86-year-old resident of the Kerens vicinity this week when he was relieved of $30 in cash.

Deputy Constable Bud Burleson of Kerens was here Thursday afternoon and said that the pocketbook of the victim was slipped from his person, the money removed and the wallet returned without his knowledge. The loss of the money was discovered after his visitors had disappeared.

"Gee, tennis," he said. "What do you want in a football player? Speed, co-ordination, fast thinking under pressure, footwork. Where can I develop those things better than in tennis? I can teach you all there is to know about blocking in 30 minutes, although I might have you 3,000 years without ever seeing you execute one properly."

IDENTITY OF "ROPE WALKER" KILLED HERE 52 YEARS AGO REMAINS UNSOLVED MYSTERY

By JOHN SAM HASLAM

On a little lichen and moss covered marble tombstone in the Hebrew cemetery here are two simple words—"Rope Walker."

There is no other information—no identity of the person buried under that brick surrounded mound—no date of that person's birth—or even death.

Down on Commerce street, in the safe of the Goldsmith Brothers dry goods store is a somewhat ancient volume of Hebrew burial records, and on the yellowed pages of this book is the only clue to the identity of that person: "Fell from Trapeze—1884."

The space allotted to names is blank, and the succinct statement of how he met his end is contained in the next space, and is followed by the year. The records now are kept by Ben Goldsmith, secretary of the Hebrew Cemetery Association, but at that time, by Max London.

Late Monday afternoon more than a dozen persons were visited and interviewed before the following story could be pieced out: Happened 52 Years Ago.

One afternoon 52 years ago, after children had been dismissed from school, a man named "Rope Walker" had been stretched from the roof of an old frame building which later was the site of the First State bank building, to a similarly constructed building now housing the County Jail.

In the first named building was Bernard Simon's grocery store, while the present H. H. Carter location was the "Blue Front" drug store, operated by one Dr. Carter.

Tied from roof-top to roof-top, the rope was about 20 feet from the ground, and ranged "catty-corner" across Beaton street and Fifth avenue.

At that time in Corsicana the opportunity of seeing a daredevil walk a tight rope was a carnival occasion, and practically everybody in town had come from near and far over the dusty, unpaved streets and board sidewalks to see the event.

As eyes were focused on the Simon building, a medium-sized man appearing to be about 40 years of age, climbed to the roof, fastened a wood-stove on his back, to begin his perilous trip across the rope.

To the surprise of the villagers, the man had but one leg, the other being a wooden limb. The bottom end of the false leg was notched to fit the rope.

As the rope-walker reached the middle of the street intersection, sliding his notched wooden leg along the rope and cautiously pulling the other after, he became overbalanced, and fell to the ground, landing on his forehead, with the stove crushing on top of his body.

Women and children screamed and fainted. Some of the older men surged forward in a body to where the man had fallen. Some fathers and brothers took their daughters and sisters inside nearby stores "for protection" and then joined the other men to give what assistance they could.

The man was taken to the Molloy hotel, around the corner, where Dr. Gulick was summoned, and performed what first aid treatment was available at that time.

The broken man told some of the bedside attendants that he was a member of a Methodist church, and asked for a minister of that denomination. Rev. Abe Mulkey came and talked for some time to the man.

Later in the evening, Dr. Gulick reported the man was dying, and that he wanted to talk to "a Jew man." Mr. Simon, owner of one of the stores, was summoned, and with the dying man, repeated the Jewish prayers in Hebrew.

Refused Information. The rope-walker told Mr. Simon that he had been "killing" when he said he was a Methodist, but really was an Orthodox Jew, which was proven to Mr. Simon's satisfaction when he repeated his prayers in Hebrew. During his several interviews he refused to divulge his name or residence, or any information concerning his identity.

The broken body was laid to rest in the Jewish cemetery here through the benevolence of number of Corsicana Hebrews. Not a word was ever learned of the man's identity, and it was some time later before the little marble tombstone was put at the head of the grave, which now may be seen near the Third avenue entrance to the cemetery.

Most of the details of this story were related by Miss Rachel Mae London, 316 West Sixth avenue, daughter of the late Max London, the record keeper, who as a girl, was an eye-witness to the tragedy.
